The Tennessee Election To-Day.

No General Disturbance Anticipated.

Argument of Defense in Surratt Case.

Alabamians Dissatisfied with General Pope.

They Ask the President to Relieve Him.

Internal Revenue Receipts for July $25,000,000.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 31, 1867.

Tennessee Affairs.

The Government, especially the Presidential portion of it, is looking upon affairs in Tennessee with the deepest interest. Telegrams have been pouring back and forth from the military authorities, and there is reasonable assurance that there will be no general disturbance. It further appears from official reports that the late troubles in that State have been considerably exaggerated. If General Grant ever intended to go to Tennessee, as published, he has evidently not deemed his presence there as necessary, for he is still at army headquarters in this city.

The Surratt Case.

The defense in the Surratt trial commenced their argument to-day, Mr. Merrick, formerly of Chicago, occupying the entire day. He laid great stress upon the construction of the indictment, which charged the prisoner with the murder of President Lincoln, and which declared in its technical language that Surratt was in the city of Washington on April 14th, 1865, and that he then and there committed the crime.

Cabinet Conference.

There was an informal conference of the President and Cabinet to-day, but the matters under consideration have not transpired.

Want Gen. Pope Removed.

A delegation of Alabamians called on the President to-day, and stated to him that the policy pursued by General Pope in his enforcement of the Reconstruction act was identical with that of General Sheridan, though not carried out so fully in the matter of the removal of State officials. They asked, therefore that General Pope might be relieved. The President in reply did not seem to fully agree with the delegation, and gave them no answer. They withdrew with the intention of drawing up their grievances in writing, and presenting them in the form of a petition to the President.

Ex-Union Officers in Virginia.

A meeting of ex-Union officers, who have settled in Virginia, was held at Richmond to-day, to decide what course they should pursue as to their political status in that State pending its reconstruction.

Custom House Inspection.

The Commissioner of Customs started to-day on a general tour of inspection of Custom Houses along the Atlantic coast as far East as Eastport, Maine, and as far West as Chicago.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

The total internal revenue receipts for July foot up about twenty-five millions of dollars.

WASHINGTON, July 31.

RAILROAD STATISTICS.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office is taking measures to obtain accurate information in regard to railways of the United States, completed, projected and begun, for publication in the next annual report, in connection with the details of the immense land grants made by Congress in aid of the railway system.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION.

To-day a delegation of Pennsylvanians composed of J. R. Flannigan, Jno. Welsh and H. R. Coggshell, of Philadelphia; N. P. Sawyer, of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Beavens, of Union county, as a sub-committee of the National Union Central Committee of the State, representing the conservative wing of the Republican party, waited on the President to inform him of the action of the Committee, which, they state, is in no condition to act with the Democratic organization, and proposes to organize the Republican supporters of the Administration on a platform with candidates through the State, distinct from the other great political parties. The President, according to report, informed them that inasmuch as he had declared the people must be trusted with their own government, and his faith in the people had not been yet shaken, he could only say he left the issue of the hour in their hands, and as to the mode of practical organization of the people of a great State, he must leave it to the friends of both wings of his supporters, but trusted the true men of Pennsylvania would bury past differences for the promotion of a common end, to-wit, the early restoration of the Union and preservation of the Constitution. Congratulations were exchanged, and the interview passed off very pleasantly.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.

The Treasurer has received a letter postmarked Dubuque, Iowa, enclosing $150, which, the writer says, was unjustly taken while in the United States service for commutation of rations for a servant, when he had none. Another party from Indiana returns one dollar fraudulently obtained in statement of account with the Government.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

The receipts of internal revenue to-day were $789,770. Total for the month, $24,734,756.

RETURN OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

Chief Justice Chase has returned here.

MISSOURI STATE BONDS.

Various parties having forwarded to the Secretary of the Treasury the required proofs that they have legitimately acquired possession of some of the $730,000 worth of Missouri State bonds abstracted seven or eight years ago from the Interior Department. The Secretary has removed the caveat from cases of these bona fide holders, and the interest of the bonds held by them will be paid in New York, where the State of Missouri has deposited funds for the purpose. The Department acts separately upon all such cases.

Cholera Not Epidemic at Fort Harker.

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—The surgeon at Fort Harker, reports no cases of epidemic cholera have occurred there for some days. The few cases there last week were sporadic, and due to carelessness or specially unhealthy circumstances. The people are returning to Ellsworth, and there is nothing now to deter trade or travel.

Colored Man Appointed Register of Births and Deaths in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—F. M. Crazatt, Register of Births and Deaths, was removed to-day by Governor Flanders, and Severne A. Savre, a colored veteran of 1812, appointed to the position.

Anniversary of the New Orleans Riot.

NEW ORLEANS, July 30.—A mass was celebrated to-day for the repose of those killed during the riot a year ago. The ceremony was in Mechanics Hall, the scene of the riot. There was but little demonstration on the subject by any class.

Commencement of Williams College.

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., July 31.—At the annual commencement of Williams College forty-nine students graduated. Among the persons on whom were conferred the degree of LL. D. were Senator Morgan, of New York, and Rev. Addison Ballard, of Detroit.

Injuries of Assistant Secretary Seward not Serious.

AUBURN, N. Y., July 31.—The wounds received by Assistant Secretary Seward, by the running away of a span of horses, are not of a serious character. He will probably be well in a few days.

Crops in North Carolina.

WILMINGTON, N. C., July 30.—The general rains in this section have resulted in great benefit to the crops. Accounts from the country represent the yield of wheat to be larger than at first supposed.

Admiral Tegethoff at Boston.

BOSTON, July 31.—Among the passengers per the China, which arrived last night, were Admiral Tegethoff, of the Austrian navy, and his brother, General Tegethoff, en route for Mexico to obtain the body of Maximilian.

Wayne County Treasurer's Office Robbed.

HONESDALE, PA., July 31.—The County Treasurer's office was broken into by burglars last night, the safe blown open, but little money obtained.

Writs for Election in Canada.

OTTAWA, July 30.—Writs for a general election are expected to be issued on the 3d of August.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Republican Mass Meeting at Charleston --Gen. Sickles Removes a Magistrate.

CHARLESTON, July 31.—A large Republican mass meeting was held last night, the freedmen largely preponderating. Dr. Mackey presided. After several speeches, resolutions were unanimously adopted expressing the unalterable intention to carry out in good faith and without reservation the Congressional measures looking to reconstruction, and indorsing the platform of the recent Republican Convention at Columbia.

General Sickles has dismissed Magistrate Seeley, of Columbia, from office for releasing on insufficient bail, without due regard for the gravity of the offense committed, Radcliffe and Bailey, the two men charged with assaulting and beating J. Q. Thompson and W. J. Armstrong. The military have arrested the accused parties, who will be arraigned before a military commission at Charleston.

GEORGIA.

Reports from the Cotton Crops Favorable---Registration---Death.

AUGUSTA, July 30.—Accounts from the cotton crop are favorable.

SAVANNAH, July 30.—The number of persons registered in Clinch county is 584, the large majority whites. The number in Chaffee county is 450; Barnet 431.

Hon. Henry Stevens, a distinguished citizen of Vermont, died last night, aged 75.

MEMPHIS.

No Trouble Anticipated at the Election --The Cholera Again Appearing.

MEMPHIS, July 31.—No trouble is anticipated at the election to-morrow.

The cholera has again appeared in the Southern part of the city. Six deaths occurred in one house on Mulberry street last night, and five at one on Front Row. The Board of Health are taking energetic means to prevent its spreading.

SURRATT'S TRIAL.

Forty-Fourth Day's Proceedings--Argument for the Defense.

WASHINGTON, July 31, 1867.

Mr. Merrick consumed the whole day without concluding the argument for the defense in the Surratt case.

FROM NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, July 31, 1867.

DEATH OF MISS SEDGEWICK.

Miss Catharine Maria Sedgewick, the authoress, died at Roxbury to-day.

ARRIVAL OF THE ST. LAURENT.

The steamer St. Laurent, from Havre via Brest on the 20th, arrived to-day.

Commencement of Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.

EASTON, PA., July 31.—The thirty-second commencement of Lafayette College occurred to-day. The degree of LL. D. was conferred on Judge Strong, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. At the Alumni dinner Ex-Governor Pollock presided. President Cottell announced that it had been determined to raise $200,000 additional for endowment, and that Thomas Bearer and Wm. Adamson had subscribed $10,000 each and Mr. Parmel $8,000, on condition the whole be made up within the year.

Sailing of the Cuba.

BOSTON, July 31.—The steamer Cuba, for Liverpool, took $110,000 in gold.

STATE ITEMS.

The State Base Ball Convention of Pennsylvania will meet in Harrisburg on the second Thursday in October, being the 10th day of the month. It is expected that all the clubs in the State will be represented.

On Friday night last, a man named B. F. Thomas, who was in delicate health, and was on his way to his home No. 610 Carpenter street, Philadelphia, died in one of the cars of the Fast Line East, between Gallitzin and Altoona. His remains were forwarded to Philadelphia.

Asa Keeler, postmaster in a village of Wyoming county, recently deceased, was appointed by President Monroe. He was the oldest acting postmaster in the United States.

Maria Young, of Blair county, who was arrested on the charge of poisoning her father, has been acquitted. It has been found after a careful examination of the stomach of the deceased and its contents, that there was no evidence of either mineral or vegetable poison.

The Pennsylvania Canal Company have recently made a survey of the canal and river from Harrisburg to Huntingdon, with the view of adapting the Juniata to slackwater navigation. The Lewistown Gazette thinks there is nothing in the way to prevent this from being carried out. Such a change would soon create steam navigation, at least for light draught boats. At a comparatively small expense, a channel from fifty to one hundred feet wide and from two to three feet in depth could be made by removing a few rocks and stones.

In February, 1866, a joint resolution was passed by the Legislature of this Commonwealth, authorizing the procurement of a historical painting, commemorative of the battle of Gettysburg, to be placed in the Capital at Harrisburg. Messrs. George Connell, of Philadelphia; A. Hiestand Glatz, of York; and David McConaughy, of Adams county, on the part of the Senate; and Messrs. James N. Kerns, A. D. Markley, of Montgomery; Harrison Allen, of Warren county, on the part of the House of Representatives, were the Committee to whom the matter was given in charge. They have selected Mr. Peter F. Rothermel, of Philadelphia, as the artist to execute the work. At a meeting of the committee, at the rooms of that gentlemen, a day or two ago, there were present several specially invited guests, among them being Major General Geo. G. Meade, General Edwin H. Fitler, General Joshua T. Owen, General Charles M. Prevost, General D. W. C. Baxter, Colonel Geo. Meade, and many others. It is expected that three years will be required for the completion of the picture, as it will be thirty-five feet in length by fifteen feet in height.

OHIO ITEMS.

The Morgan county Herald, under the heading "Anecdotes," reports the marriage of a youth of seventy-eight to a fair widow of sixty-two.

Wheat is selling in Piqua and Circleville at $1 75 per bushel.

The Dayton Journal says new family flour was offered in that place on Saturday last at $10 per barrel.

Miss Martha Glass, of Pittsburgh, Pa., lectured to an out-door audience near Salem, Columbiana county, last week, in favor of female suffrage.

The Hancock Jeffersonian says: Wool has been selling since our last issue, from thirty-five to forty cents per pound; a decline from the week previous. A dealer tells us that the wool crop is mostly in.

Luther Edgerton has been elected Treasurer of Marietta College, the fourth Treasurer since its incorporation, thirty-two years ago. Colonel John Mills was Treasurer fifteen years, 1835–'50; President I. W. Andrews, five years, 1850–'55; Samuel Shipman, twelve years, 1855–'67. Douglas Putnam has been the Secretary from the beginning.

On Sunday, 21st inst., two couples were taking a buggy ride in Watertown, Washington county. One of the gentlemen indulged in a smoke. The consequence was that the dress of the young lady that he was riding with caught fire, and before they noticed it, it had got under such headway, that only through their activity, and by the aid of a mudpuddle by the side of the road, were they able to extinguish the flames and save her life. She had to go through the woods and fields for half a mile, until she got to a house, where she obtained some other clothing and proceeded on her journey.

An individual known as "Judge Leslie," is just now the object of much solicitude with some of the people of Ohio, for whom he has undertaken to secure legacies. He is under bail on two or three charges, and the latest development in his case is thus noticed in the Columbus Journal: Judge Leslie, alias Judge Kinkade, alias Judge Cato, alias Judge Foster, alias Judge Lisle, was troubled on last Saturday by the appearance of one of his victims—John Johns, of Dayton, Ohio. It seems that this fellow, Leslie, whose ignorance has been a byword ever since the publication of one of his letters in the Journal some two months since, approached Mr. Johns, who seems to be an honest, open-hearted man, and informed him that he was the heir to wonderful estates in England. Leslie convinced Johns that he was the most remarkable lawyer of the age, and that it was only necessary for him to appear in the English Courts to secure all this fabulous wealth of the Johns. Of course Johns was delighted by the picture painted by the fancy of Judge Leslie, and was induced to contribute $750 to the pocket money of the "Hon. Judge."

MEXICO.

Shooting of Vidaurri and Castello.

Feeling in Favor of Juarez for President.

Canales and Gomez Giving Trouble.

A MORE HUMANE POLICY.

Treatment of Imperial Prisoners.

Escobedo's Aggressive Letter.

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—Official accounts from Queretaro confirm the shooting of Vidaurri on the 8th of July. General Alvarez, by order of the Commander-in-Chief, had allowed twenty-six hours' time for the individuals spoken of in the decree of June 21st to present themselves as prisoners.

The Ranchero confirms the shooting of Gen. Castello and other Imperial officers at Queretaro on the 9th.

The feeling is apparently unanimous for Juarez for President.

Canales and Gomez are causing great trouble in the southern portion of the State of Tamaulipas. A military commander of the line of the Rio Grande has been appointed, and General Berriozabal will remain as military commander of the State. Forces are moving forward to be used in crushing Canales, Gomez and other bands in the center of the State. The force to garrison Matamoras will be 2,000 men.

News of a later date has been received by way of Brownville.

M. Schaffer, the counseller of the Emperor Maximilian, has been imprisoned.

The Imperial Generals arrested at Queretaro, who have not been already shot, will be sent to their respective States for trial.

General Marquez was levying prestamos in the capital until the very hour before he left.

The Liberal government has decided that all the Imperial prefects shall be sent into exile for six years, and their secretaries for two years.

General Juan Alvarez died at Iguala in the latter part of April.

General Escobedo made the following address to the subaltern officers of the Imperial army before releasing them: "The supreme government might dispose of the lives of those who, forgetting they were Mexicans, fought for a foreigner elevated to power by the invader; but the government, always magnanimous, forgives those who until now have been enemies of their country, because it expects that their future conduct will correspond with the clemency used toward the misled sons of Mexico. You are at liberty, and you may ask your passports for any point where you may choose to reside."

An imperial soldier taken prisoner at Queretaro, but since liberated, writes from Morelia that he has received good treatment from the officers of the Liberal army.

A specie train left Guadalajara for Manzanilla on the third. Several French prisoners, recently released, accompanied the train.

General Corona, writing from the capital, says: "All the garrison with all its officers and chiefs except Marquez are in power. O'Boran and Tabera are prisoners. Leyva, Urbano, Lopez, Porlitta, Eigenro, Locunza, and the Regent Salas surrendered themselves." It is said that several persons taken prisoners in the capital will be punished with death.

The following particulars of the occupation of the capital are taken from La Prensa, of Guadalajara: At daybreak on the 21st the parapets of the enemy were perceived to be abandoned. Shortly after the announcement was telegraphed that the fortifications were also abandoned. The order was at once given to advance into the city. Everywhere were found the trains, ammunition and baggage of the enemy. Their arms were scattered along the roads and in the streets. The entire garrison had deserted, and the men were returning to their homes. Tabera was the only one who presented himself, saying he had remained to insure good order, deliver up the position and place himself at the disposal of the besiegers as a prisoner of war.

NEWSPAPER ACCOUNTS.

Reason Taking the Place of Passion at the Capital.

The new republican paper El Globo, that has made its appearance in the capital, marks its advent by the advocacy of justice and justification as distinguished from passion and arbitrary power in dealing with those who support the empire. It calls the attention of Mexicans to the admirable example set recently before the whole world by the saviors of the American Union, who returned to their altars and firesides, content with the single trophy of the rifle with which they had defended the integrity of the country.

The leading writers in this paper are Manuel Maria de Zamacona, formerly editor of the XIX Century, and at one time Secretary for Foreign Affairs; Rafael Donde and Gabino Bustamante. The first two are members of the police commission recently organized at the capital.

Treatment of Imperial Prisoners at Queretaro.

The Ranchero of the 18th gets the following from an Austrian soldier paroled at Queretaro, who is now in Brownsville:

In the first place, he states positively that no more than two hundred Austrians and Frenchmen, all told, were at Queretaro at the time of the surrender, besides whom there were about six thousand Mexican soldiers. He declares that he knew the names and faces of every Frenchman and Austrian connected with the besieged army of Queretaro, and that he cannot be mistaken as to their number. Regarding the treatment of prisoners, our informant says that the cavalry to which he was attached, sixty-four in number, were marched out in line and ordered to strip themselves. This they did with the exception of taking off their shirts and undershirts. Hats, boots, pantaloons and blouses were removed in public and stacked in heaps before them. At a given signal to pelado soldiery came forward with a yell, and picked up the cast off clothing, took it to the liberals in front and distributed it. During this disgusting performance a Frenchman objected to taking off his pantaloons on the ground that he had on no drawers, and would, therefore, be naked. For his temerity he received a severe blow and was ordered to strip, which he did. After being thus stripped the Austrians and Frenchmen, to the number of sixty-four, were marched through the streets of Queretaro in a state of nudity. So much as a fig leaf was not allowed them with which to hide their nakedness. For six days after their capture or sale not a mouthful of food was furnished the foreign prisoners. In consequence a number died, and many more were prostrated. In the same building with the sixty-four cavalrymen Maximilian was confined; and by stealth they got a note to him stating that they were dying of starvation, and begged him to request of Escobedo that food be immediately sent them. In response the prisoners received information that their adored chieftain was likewise a prisoner, and that he had not tasted food for days, and had no power to communicate with the liberal commander. Our informant says that but for the Mexican women, (may God bless them,) they would have died of starvation. These angels of mercy contrived by every means in their power to relieve the sufferings of those victims of Mexican treachery, cruelty and absolute brutality. The sixty-four cavalrymen were afterwards marched, in a state nearly naked, to San Luis, where they were when Maximilian, Mejia and Miramon were executed.

The Liberal Cabinet and the Executions.

A letter to the Ranchero, from San Luis Potosi July 1, states that nearly all the haciendas of this State have been confiscated, and it is said that it is owing to the feelings of the Governor that the State has been dealt with so harshly. In the States of Zacatecas and Guanajuata the Governors have acted with a much better policy. They have positively refused to enforce or carry out in any way the confiscation ukase of Juarez and his ministers, and by this moderate action have partly succeeded in establishing confidence in those States. Juarez's Council of Ministers meet generally twice a day. When the case of Maximilian was argued before them they were all in favor of having him sentenced and executed anyhow, with the exception of Minister Iglesias, who opposed that opinion with some energy, and among other reasons gave that the Emperor Maximilian had been recognized by about four-fifths of the nation, and had also been recognized by all the foreign nations, save the United States, and that he ought to be treated as a belligerent; but the other members, who could not control their feelings, said that they would only recognize him as a filibuster, and as such he should be tried by an ordinary court-martial, that in the person of the Emperor Maximilian they did not recognize the Emperor of Mexico, but Maximilian de Hapsburg, the filibuster, and as such he must die. Minister of War Mejia, who is an old brute, with one foot in the grave, said that "he was so convinced of the necessity of shooting these men that if it was necessary to sacrifice his life to have it done he was willing to suffer death."

The Alleged Letter of Escobedo Against Foreigners in Full.

The letter in full of Escobedo reads thus. It is addressed to the Governor (Gomez) of Nuevo Leon:

The execution of the traitors, which I had the satisfaction of directing, is good food for digestion. It will satisfy the Europeans, and the Yankees, too, that to trifle with Mexicans is death by the law. Had we complied with the request of the Yankees, to spare the filibustero and his associate traitors, it would have been a request to give up our lands, our mines, and our women. After this we shall be allowed to worship our own God, till our own soil, work our own mines, and not have our women defiled by Yankee libertines.

I am now in favor of making clean work of the detested "Gringos." This country belongs to God and us, and just so long as one foreigner remains on our soil our liberty is in jeopardy. By every means in our power we should make the country Mexican; and as all the property in the hands of foreigners was made by our misfortunes, we should take it, now that we have the power, and hunt them from the country. My motto now is, death to all estrangeros! There is no danger of the Yankees interfering with us so long as the Southern States (Estados del Sur) are kept out of the Union; besides, the black men would side with us, and may at any time pronounce against the whites. Before we get through with the foreigners the Yankees will think we are in earnest, and the time will come when their notables will be begging for their heads instead of begging for the Austrian. In our struggles for liberty we have lost nearly all. Our lands and our mines, and our liberty and our women, and our honors we still have, but the foreigners have all the available wealth of the Republic; but they will see in less than three years that Mexicans will have what they want in Mexico. You will understand from this my position, and should I by any chance whatever become a candidate, you will understand my unalterable platform. Whenever the time comes you can make this letter public in such manner as you think proper. I know that you and I think alike on these matters, and I know that my countrymen will applaud our patriotic determination.

God and Liberty! ESCOBEDO.

The Prensa, of Guadalajara, gives the following chapter on filibustering:

The Boletin, of Paz, Upper California, says that the notorious Gaston d'Artois has reappeared upon the stage, and this time with authentic papers of filibusterism. Two pieces of companies, the greater part Mexicans and some Americans, left San Antonio and marched upon Paz, with the pretext of deposing Governor Pedrin and reinstating Navarette, who is considered favorable to annexation. The Governor was informed in time to be ready. Every citizen armed himself the best he could, and when the enemy arrived the fight commenced and lasted for many hours in the streets. At last the band of Artois was routed and he fled to the mountains, where he displayed the American flag, thinking it would protect him. But Pedrin followed and took him prisoner. Artois was tried by a court martial and condemned to death, and on the following day the celebrated Artois was to have been shot.

The Traitor Lopez.

From a private correspondent at Monterey we learn of the arrest of the traitor Lopez by the Governor of Oaxaca. He says:—"His treason to the Emperor purchased his pardon from the supreme liberal chief Juarez; but it by no means purchases his ransom from the bloody talons of the Governor of Oaxaca. The proof against him is said to be sufficient to convict, and the prevailing opinion here is that he will be executed, which God grant may be true." The charges against Lopez are of an atrocious character, and, whether trumped up or true, are just such as might be expected to be charged against a traitor.

A FRESH WATER WHALE.

The Sea Serpent Superceeded by a New Aquatic Monster in Lake Michigan--He Puffs, Blows, Moans and Eats White Fish.

[From the Milwaukee Wisconsin.]

That our great lake is inhabited by something bigger and of a more amphibious nature than the whitefish or the sturgeon is evident. Those who sail the great deep, and know what is going on above and below the water, tell us so, and wherefore should they lie about so small a thing? During the season we have frequently heard sailors speak of seeing a fish that looked something like a whale, off the harbor. Captain McBride, who has crossed Lake Michigan times into the thousands, says he has frequently had his attention called to a whaley sort of a fish that makes much noise and blowing, and, always, with a huge puff, that can be heard on a still morning for a mile out, sink below the surface of the water before he can get his boat near enough to see and describe the beast. Captain Cousaul, of the tug Davidson, a wide-awake sailor, says that frequently very early in the morning, or before daylight, when he goes out into the lake, he has seen the monster lying off the mouth of the river and moving slowly along, as if devouring objects that came out of the river. On one occasion, having the wind strongly in its favor, he bore away for the fish, and was enabled to get so near that he could plainly see its back, which seemed formed like that of a whale, with huge fins attached, that looked big enough to destroy a boat at one blow. Upon discovering the tug steaming toward it, the fish or beast, whichever it was, uttered a low moaning sound as if very much frightened, and then blowing a loud blast, it sunk. The captain cruised about the spot for some time, but no trace of the fish was afterwards seen. It is described as being much larger than any sturgeon which has ever been seen in the lakes, some of those who have seen it estimating its length at fully sixteen feet. Its head is large and its jaws capacious.

As another evidence that there are monsters of the deep in the lake, we have the fact of the finding of large sized fish on the banks, which were evidently bitten in two by something not of their species—something of the shark species, that is fond of a delectable meal, and likes it on the wing.

RAILWAY MATTERS

It is said the prospects of the construction of a railroad between Greensburg and Mt. Pleasant are good, and work will be commenced as soon as possible. The citizens of Connellsville are agitating the subject earnestly of completing the road from Mt. Pleasant to their city, a distance of ten miles. This will give the latter place direct communication with the East.

Settlements with the landholders along the route of the Cornwall branch of the Reading and Columbia railroad are now being made, and it is understood that the grading will be immediately put under contract, and the road pushed to an early completion.

No less than four companies have been organized to build a railroad between Columbus and Toledo. The first company is known as the "Toledo and Columbus Railway Company," and proposes to build a road from Toledo to Columbus upon a line running through the counties of Lucas, Seneca, Wood, Hancock, Hardin, Union, Madison and Franklin. The second company is known as the "Toledo and Columbus Railroad Company," and proposes to build a road upon a line running through the counties of Lucas, Wood, Seneca, Wyandot, Marion, Delaware and Franklin. The third company is known as the "Toledo, Tiffin and Columbus Railroad Company," and proposes to build a road on a line running through the counties of Lucas, Wood, Ottawa, Sandusky, Seneca, Wyandot, Marion, Delaware and Franklin. The fourth company is known as the "Toledo, Kenton and Columbus Railroad Company," and proposes to build a road on a line running through the counties of Lucas, Wood, Henry, Putnam, Allen, Hancock, Hardin, Union, Madison and Franklin. A survey of each of these routes is to be made, and the one deemed the most feasible will be adopted and the others abandoned.

—The Lewistown Gazette announces that the engineers have concluded the survey of the Middle Creek Railroad, to run from Lewistown to Lewisburg, Pa. Work is to be commenced next month. Nearly all the stock has been taken, and the road is considered a certainty.

Insanity Among the Sandwich Islanders.

A letter from Honolulu says: The Insane Asylum is under the management of Dr. Edward Hoffman, and has at present twenty-eight inmates—four foreigners and twenty-four natives. The Doctor states that the result of his research and experience proves that awa, indulged in to excess, is a fruitful cause of insanity among Hawaiians. This awa is a pungent, acrid compound, in a liquid form, made from a root of that name, which produces intoxication. It is prepared by girls or women generally, who chew it until the juice is expressed and mixed with the saliva, when it is spit into a bowl or calabash, and the process continued until enough is prepared for a good big drink. The very general use of awa by the natives alarmed the government some years since, and the sale was restricted by issuing a limited number of licenses to sell it, and then only to such parties as could bring a certificate from a physician to the effect that it was for medical purposes, for which certificate the physician might charge twenty-five cents. To show what a farce and mockery the law is made by parties who claim to be respectable, I will state that these certificates are prepared and signed by the hundred and furnished to any one offering the fee. The principal sales are made on Saturdays, when the natives prepare for a drunken Sunday.

Among the Orientals.

A letter from Damascus relates the following incident: We were not permitted to depart without seeing the ladies of the house, and accepting the invariable Eastern hospitalities. Attending the venerable mother entered a young girl of about fourteen, small and delicate in form and features and exceedingly pretty. Her black hair was plaited in broad braids that were long enough to reach to the shoulder, about which the ends were left to fall in small fringes. Her wide Turkish trowsers were of rose-colored silk; the sleeves of her embroidered jacket fell away loosely from a white arm; a little jaunty Greek cap surmounted the glossy braids, the silken tassel reaching to the silky fringes of her hair. She did not take her seat, English fashion, with her mother on the divan, as is some times done by way of courtesy to the guest, but dropped a la Turk on the cushions near our feet. While we were saying to ourselves, "What a sweet child this is!" and wondering whether she would ever develop the affections of young ladyhood, the old man spoke of her as the wife of his son, and said they had been married three years. It is not uncommon for marriages to take place in the East when the bride is only eight years of age. The favorite wife of the Prophet Mohammed was seven at the time of his betrothal, and he waited for her but a year, and took, meantime, one or two others as a solace for his loneliness.

LONDON, Evening, July 31.—To-day was the second day of the Goodwood races. The attendance was larger even than yesterday. The principal race—for the Goodwood stake—was unexpectedly won by the Duke of Beauford's "Gomera." The leading horses came in in the following order: Gomera first, Vicar second, La Dauphine third.

American Reapers and Mowers.

PARIS, July 31.—In the competitive trial of mowing and reaping machines yesterday, on the Imperial farm at Vincennes, the distribution of prizes, made by the jury, shows that the American inventions excelled all others. C. H. McCormick received the highest prize for reaper and mower, and gold medals were awarded to Messrs. Wood and Parry.

Terrible Explosion.

VIENNA, July 31.—Accounts have reached this city of a terrible explosion in one of the large mines owned by the Rothschilds, in Moravia. The mine was full of workmen at the time, and more than one hundred miners are reported killed or injured.

The Sultan En Route Home.

VIENNA, Evening, July 31.—The visit of the Sultan to Vienna terminated to-day. His Majesty departed this afternoon for Pesth, where he will make a brief visit, and thence proceed to Constantinople.

Joined the Zolverein.

BERLIN, July 31.—Altona, the largest city in Holstein, has joined the Zolverein.

Prussia's Reply to the Danish Cabinet.

BERLIN, July 31, Evening.—The Prussian Government is preparing and will shortly send to Copenhagen a reply to the note of the Danish Cabinet, requesting information as to the guarantees acquired by Prussia for the protection of Germans in Northern Schleswig.

RICHMOND.

Order from Gen. Schofield--The Convention.

RICHMOND, July 31.—Gen. Schofield has issued a general order regulating appointments to fill vacancies, removals from office, etc., carrying out section four of the late reconstruction act.

A large number of delegates to the Convention arrived this evening, and the streets are alive with colored delegates, all wearing the blue ribbon badge of the late Convention. A large crowd gathered around the Republican headquarters, where there have been four or five caucuses to-day to arrange matters for to-morrow.

Up to ten o'clock to-night about three hundred colored and one hundred white delegates to the Convention have arrived. Much interest is shown by the citizens in the proceedings of the Convention. Among the delegates are familiar ones in Virginia. The Carringtons, Watkins, Flournoys, Gardners and others. Caucuses are being held at the St. Charles Hotel and Custom House, and at the former is being submitted Botts's address to the people. The blacks of the city will be at the convention en masse, as they were invited to by Hunnicutt in a speech last night. The names of Botts, Hunnicutt, McKensie and Lewis are being discussed to-night for President of the Convention.

A meeting of ex-Federal officers to-night adopted resolutions advising co-operation with all who strive for the restoration of peace to the country. Fifteen delegates were appointed to the Convention.

The Conservative caucus to-night approved Botts's platform. It favors the restoration of the great body of the people to their political rights, but urges the disfranchisement of the more artful leaders. It is stated the platform has already been approved by the other wing of the party.

NASHVILLE.

Preparations for the Election To-day--Large Special Police Force Organized.

NASHVILLE, July 31.—Arrangements for the preservation of peace to-morrow, were completed to-day by organizing 300 special policemen, and assigning them to duty. Colonel Duncan will have command of the military, both regulars and militia. He was present at the installation of the special police, and made a short address, pledging co-operation with them in the discharge of their duties. Apprehensions of a riot are generally quieted, yet within the past three days many fire arms have been sold.

BOSTON.

Sailing of C. C. Washburn and Family--Minister Dismissed.

BOSTON, July 31.—Hon. C. C. Washburn, wife and two daughters sailed per Cuba to-day for England.

The School Street Universalist church has dismissed Rev. Rowland Conner, Jr., pastor, for non-belief and failing to preach Universalism, and for taking part in a meeting of free religionists held here on anniversary week.

From New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, July 31.—The Board of Levee Commissioners have appointed a committee to visit the North and Northwest and negotiate for levee bonds, which Gov. Flanders will sign.

The Board of Health has declared Galveston an infected port, and required the Governor to include that city in his proclamation. Only two cases of yellow fever are reported in this city.

The Weather.

BALTIMORE, July 31.—Reports from the eastern parts of Maryland are unfavorable for the corn crop.

CHARLESTON, July 31.—The weather is rainy, too much so for the crops.

MOBILE, July 31.—The crop reports are favorable. Weather clear and warm.

Lost their Presence of Mind.

MONTREAL, July 31.—The conduct of the volunteers in firing into the crowd at St. Hyacinth, is severely censured by the press. An investigation shows that their officers completely lost presence of mind.

Curious Case.

A Boston savings bank has lately had a strange case of mistaken identity. About four years ago a one-armed man called, saying he wished to draw money deposited there several years before, but had lost his bank book. The treasurer asked him if he could prove his identity, and he said that he had formerly driven a cart for a well-known coal merchant in the city, and in his employ had lost his arm. The coal merchant was summoned, and at once said he recognized the man, although he was somewhat changed in appearance, and that he was all right; and signed a bond in the claimant's favor, who departed with his money. Nothing more was heard of the matter till about a month or so ago, when another one-armed man claiming the same name as the first, entered the bank with his book in his hand and demanded his deposits. He told the same story as to his identity as the first, said he had been in prison these many years, and again the coal merchant was summoned to decide. At once the merchant said that before he had been deceived, that the other man was an impostor, but this was the right man, and with the utmost good nature paid the bond he had signed four years before; and a second time the money was paid. The explanation probably is that both these one-armed men had been in the same prison together, had talked and planned together, and together had been successful in their swindle.

English Watering Place.

We have had an ideal of a summer resort, a place for relaxation and refreshing. It was, however, but an ideal, being so different from any one we have ever visited or heard of in this country, which takes its fashionable styles of recreation, as it does those of costume, from France, rather than Britain, whence we drain our genealogy. A fashionable watering-place is a place of more confusion, bustle and noise, and of scarcely less fatigue and anxiety, to many, than the gay circles of society and the busy scenes of business, in the city. The comforts of home, with its quietness, its cool rooms, its airy chambers, its retirement, are never presented to the mind in more attractive colors, than when they are viewed from amid the inconveniences and discomforts of a crowded hotel, whether on the sea-side or in the interior of the country. Hence, if emotions of joy and satisfaction were susceptible of being measured, like degrees of temperature on a scale, the glad-to-get-home feeling would rise higher than the anticipated pleasure of going to the country.

We have met with a description of such a watering place as we have imagined. It is a real entity. A correspondent of the New York Times introduces it to us. The scenery—it is in Devonshire—is grand. But it is the place, the village, the visitors, that we desire to introduce to our readers:

"Here, sheltered by chalk hills and open to a sunny sea, lies the pretty little bathing-town of Eastbourne, one of the cleanest, nicest, quietest and prettiest on the English coast. Just now it is all but smothered in roses, white lilies and honeysuckle. I had no idea they would flourish in such luxuriance by the salt sea. Few places in England are so free from the vagabondage and poverty that mar the beauty of English towns. The antiquities, the flint houses, the few remaining thatched roofs, and the cottages and boats of the fishermen give a picturesque setting to the splendors of the marine parade, the new streets and elegant buildings.

"French watering places have abundant amusements—balls, concerts, theaters, casinos. Not so in England. A German band plays on the parade—and that is all. Eastbourn, has ten or twelve churches and chapels, but not the sign of a theater or a place of amusement. People breakfast, bathe, walk, lie on the beach, read novels, ride, drive, dine, walk and then go to bed, and next day do it all over again, and so on, growing fresher, rosier, stouter day by day, until the season is over, and they are off to town again. You can take a sail in fine weather, or blister your hands rowing. A young lady excuses her playing on the piano by showing the inside of her pretty hands all blistered by the oars. You can play at that dandling, tedious, attitudinizing, flirting game, dear to youthful curates and well-shaped young ladies with pretty feet, Croquet.

"After dinner we walked for two hours on the parade, nice terraced walks along the beach. The waves are dashing on the shingle and roaring back again. The German band plays operatic selections, and Guards and Mabel waltzes, and the last polkas as long as they can see, and then wind up with the invariable 'God Save the Queen.' We lounge on the benches, or walk up and down, looking at each other, but never, never, never speaking to each other without a formal introduction. I have seen two members of the demi monde here and two policemen. As a matter of form he is here with his helmet-shaped hat, to represent the principle of order. As a matter of fact, there is no possible use for him, and the only time I have seen him was walking with his wife on the parade enjoying the music. Time passes, not heavily, but slowly, at the English watering place. Each day is as long as three, and a week here seems considerably longer than a month at Paris.

Oil Matters.

The Pithole Record says things present a much more lively and cheering aspect around the wells, since the recent advance in the price of oil, and the faces of the operators, instead of presenting an elongated and doleful appearance, have a jolly roundness that it does one's heart good to gaze upon. Many new wells are to be put down, and the prospects are good for a lively fall trade.

Probably no well in the oil region of Pennsylvania or any other country where oil has been discovered had yielded more of the precious fluid, or has so eventful a career, as has the old Grant Well No. 19, Thomas Holmden Farm, Pithole Creek. This well was struck the 2d day of August, 1865, and will therefore be two years old in a few days. It has been twice destroyed by fire, changed hands several times, one or two men burned to death while at work round the well, suffered from rascally superintendents in its early days, been sold out by the sheriff, and met with other mishaps almost too numerous to mention. During its two years of life it has flowed and pumped over 100,000 barrels of oil. It is now yielding twenty-five barrels per day, and bids fair to do so for an unlimited period to come. The well has been visited by thousands of people, and even at the present time is visited by nearly all the strangers coming to town to see the sights. It is under the superintendency of Mr. James Shaskley, and is owned by a gentleman living in Greenville, Pa.

A correspondent of the Marietta Times, of the 26th last., gives the following account of the flow of certain oil wells on Cow Run in Washington county, Ohio: The Perkins well flows forty barrels every twenty-four hours. The Syer well pumps eight to ten barrels per day. The Swartz well pumps twelve to fifteen barrels per day. The Neal well pumps eight to ten barrels per day. The Newton well pumps an average of ten barrels per day. The Willow well pumps eight to ten barrels per day.

A Child with Two Heads and Four Arms.

[From the Chippewa (Wis.) Union, July 26.]

On Tuesday of this week, we witnessed with our own eyes, and not another's, one of the most remarkable objects that ever breathed the breath of heaven—the body of a child with two perfect heads and four complete, well-formed arms. The lower limbs are natural, and also the extreme lower part of the body. Just above the hips the body begins to increase in size, the back-bone branching out to right and left and diverging sufficiently to give room for two shoulder-blades between them, in their proper position, the distinct two forms beginning their separate existence just below the arm-pits. In front, the body below the navel appears natural. Above that point it gradually branches out into two separate organizations, the breast-bones being joined. The vital organs are all double. The shoulders and necks are all perfect, and the heads are well formed. The features are regular and well developed, one hand appearing to be that of a male, while the features of the other resemble those of a female. The genitals of the male are perfect. Altogether, this is a wonderful specimen of the genus man. Like the Siamese twins, the two faces inclined towards each other, the back of the body being broader than the front part. The inside arms are in such a position as to naturally twine around the little necks, each of its fellow, giving a pleasing effect. The weight of the body, after having been somewhat reduced by the process of embalming, was eight pounds.

The child was born in this village, on Sunday, the 14th inst., Drs. J. A. Macdonald and Alex. McBean, being in attendance. One side lived a few minutes after being ushered into this strange world, and then died, while the other did not breathe.

A singular explosion of nitro-glycerine occurred yesterday at the Fort Pitt Foundry, resulting in the serious injury of a man named Henry Smith. It appears that about six weeks ago an agent of a company that manufactures nitro-glycerine attempted by means of it to break up an old fly wheel for the purpose of recasting the iron. The work was not fully accomplished, and yesterday morning, about nine o'clock, two men attempted to finish the work with drills. It was supposed that the glycerine had been entirely emptied out, but this proved to be a mistake, although probably not more than a drop or two had been left in the cavity. Mr. Henry Smith, who is a machinist at the works, was holding a cold chisel on the hub with both hands, while his companion was striking the chisel with a sledge hammer, when the two or three drops of liquid gunpowder exploded with fearful violence and serious results. The hub and wheel were broken to fragments, and several of the flying pieces struck Mr. Smith on the hands, arms, breast and head and lacerated in these parts very seriously. He was also severely burned by the glycerine, his hands and arms clear to the shoulders, his breast and his face being painfully burned. One of his eyes was destroyed a long time since, and the other was seriously injured by the explosion. Dr. Burgher was summoned and attended the injured man's immediate necessities, after which he had him removed to the Homoeopathic Hospital on Second street, where he is now attended by Dr. McClelland, the surgeon in charge of the institution. It is feared that he will not recover. The injured man is about forty years of age, and resides in Allegheny, where he has a family living. The other man was cut in the thigh by a piece of iron, but only slightly. Had the iron penetrated a trifle deeper, however the femoral artery would have been cut and death would have ensued immediately.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Large and delighted audiences continue to throng the Opera House, to see and hear Skiff & Gaylord's Minstrels, where songs dances and burlesques are provokingly funny. The panorama of "Sherman's March to the Sea," is unfolded nightly. The minstrels perform again to-night.

COMING.—Mammoth posters on the "dead walls" of the city, announce the coming of LaRue's Carnival Minstrels, who will appear at the Opera House next Monday evening. This is one of the largest and most talented troops now traveling, and are very popular here, as everywhere.

THE Great Blood Searcher Case Decided.

In the District Court the Great Blood Searcher case was finally disposed by the Court granting an injunction against J. M. Fulton. On Saturday, July 20, the following decree was entered on motion of James H. Hopkins, Esq., Attorney for Plaintiffs.

R. E. Sellers & Co. vs. J. M. Fulton.

And now to wit, July 12th, 1867, this cause came on to be heard at this time, and was argued by the counsel, and thereupon, upon considerations thereof, it is ordered, adjudged and decreed as follows, to wit: That the said J. M. Fulton, the defendant, his agents, servants and employes, be forever restrained and enjoined from using the trade mark, "Dr. J. M. Lindsay, Improved Blood Searcher," in advertisements, circulars, cards and hand bills, bottles, moulds, wrappers, or in any other way, and from selling or offering to sell, and from preparing for sale or offering to prepare for sale any compound called or to be called "Dr. J. M. Lindsay's Improved Blood Searcher," or under any name or term similar thereto, and from using bottles, labels, cards and circulars with said trade mark thereon, stamped or printed, or resembling the bottles, labels, cards and circulars originally devised and adopted by said J. M. Lindsay and now used by said plaintiffs, R. E. Sellers & Co., in the manufacture and sale of said compound.

The next session commences
THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5,

The cadet quarters, including rooms assigned each to two cadets, are complete in every respect for the comfortable accommodation of a corps of one hundred.

The Department of Mathematics and Engineering is under the charge of a West Point graduate of high scientific attainments. The Classical and English departments, and that of Modern Languages, are under the charge of able and experienced professors and instructors.

Cadets study in their private rooms, subject to the constant supervision of the staff officers.

The discipline for which this academy is distinguished is strict and exacting, but not arbitrary.

Careful attention is given to the moral and religious culture of the cadets.

The following are some of the patrons of the Academy in Pittsburgh: Francis Sellers, Esq., Jos. Woodwell, Esq., Jas. W. Woodwell, Esq., S. S. Fowler, Esq., W. S. Haven, Esq., Hon. J. P. Penney, James Herdman, Esq., Joseph McKnight, Esq., Rev. W. S. Gray, John Scott, Esq., Wm. A. Herron, Esq., Isaac Jones, Esq., James Marshall, Esq., C. H. Paulson, Esq., Walter Bryant, Esq., Colonel David Campbell, Robert Dickey, Esq., John S. Willock, Esq., Robert Wilson, Esq.

Circulars may be obtained of
CHAS. H. PAULSON, Esq.,
NO. 73 WOOD STREET,
Or of Col. THEO. HYATT, who will be at the Monongahela House until Saturday, the 3d of August, where he will be happy to see patrons of the Academy, or others on official business.

TO CONTRACTORS.

Additional Stone for Rip-Rap Dams.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the OHIO RIVER IMPROVEMENT, corner of Third and Market streets, Pittsburgh, until 6 o'clock P. M. of THURSDAY, the 15TH DAY OF AUGUST, for quarrying and delivering at the following Rip-Rap Dams, now in the course of construction on the Ohio River, the annexed quantities of Stone required in addition to present contracts:

Location.	Distance from Pittsburgh.	Cubic Yards of Stone.
White's Ripple	11	3,500
Also to be boated from old dams		1,800
Longtown bar	18	1,275
Also to be boated from old dams		1,000
Twin Island	85	1,200
Captina Island	108	1,000
Petticoat Bar	146	500
Muskingum Island	174	4,875
Blennerhassett's Island	185	4,500
Buffington Island	214	5,200

The stones are to range in size from five cubic feet to one cubic foot, though smaller stones will be required to aid in tightening the dam.

The bids must state the price per Cubic Yard for the stone quarried and delivered on the river bank ready for loading on the flats; and the price per Cubic Yard for loading, transporting and putting the stone into the dams; also a price for removing stone from old dam and putting into new work. Bidders are requested to attach a copy of the printed advertisement to the Proposals.

The dams in progress show the general character of the work.

Work is to be commenced within ten days after signing the contract, and completed on or before the first of December, 1867.

Each proposal must be accompanied with the names of two responsible sureties, obligating themselves as provided in the form of proposal.

Forms of proposals will be furnished on application at the office.

The Government reserves the right to reject any and all bids if it should be deemed to the interests of the Government so to do, and also the right to reduce the above number of cubic yards, at any point in case the desired improvement at such point shall be attained with less quantity.

By order of the Chief of Engineers of the United States Army.

The Daily Commercial

THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1867.

THE COMMERCIAL is the largest daily paper in the State, and gives daily one-fourth more reading than any other paper in Pittsburgh. It is the only Pittsburgh paper that uses the telegraph liberally, gives full market reports, and all the news of the day.

AFTER making allowance for speculation, the foreign advices certainly do look as though that, after all, the German question would not be settled without a war. Prussia does not appear disposed to make her territorial policy conform to French ideas, and she seems to care the very least possible for the consequences. On the other hand, France, not content to let the shadow of doubt remain touching the superiority of the Empire, is warlike in her preparations. All this is quite contrary to the utterances of King and Emperor; but the world has learned how to interpret words when permitted to observe movements.

THE Democrats must conclude that Gen. SHERMAN is a crooked stick at best. Now and then they have had their hopes animated by a sentiment from him so much in keeping with their ideas that hopes were indulged he would be an available candidate for them. But all at once, and seemingly at the moment least expected, he would put his foot in it. For some time the General has been very quiet, the Indians, evidently, proving too much for him. Last week, however, he paid a visit to Wisconsin, when he gave expression to sentiments which put out of question the idea of his ever being their candidate. In other words, he said he thought the policy of Congress was about right, and that SHERIDAN should be sustained.

THE attention paid by Emperor NAPOLEON to Admiral FARRAGUT, and the visit of Empress EUGENIE to the American flag ship Colorado, are events of some significance. Things were not so three or four years ago. Both England and France were too busy then helping the rebels upset our country to think of honoring it in any way. The Mexican enterprise was in successful prosecution—that is NAPOLEON thought so; and things looked blue for Brother JONATHAN. But now, having performed their task, we send our admirals and our ships abroad, and royal courtesies await them. It is evident to all the world that the time has come when even the most powerful of the nations is disposed to court the friendship of the United States.

THE Democratic party in Ohio are preparing to make a vigorous effort. Their plan will be to strike for the Legislature; and with this view they have systematically arranged the campaign so as to produce the greatest effect on the doubtful counties. The last election demonstrated that the change of only a very few thousand votes would elect a Democratic Legislature, even while on the general vote the Republicans had a large majority in the State. The Legislature next to be chosen will elect a United States Senator in the place of Mr. WADE. Should the Democrats be able to place either PENDLETON or VALLANDIGHAM in his seat, they would be amply compensated for any effort or sacrifice. That they are not without some hopes of being able to accomplish it, is manifest enough, and our friends in Ohio should comprehend that they have an enemy that intends to win—at least so far as the Legislature is concerned.

COMMISSIONER WELLS, who is now in Europe in his official capacity, inspecting the British revenue system, and to study the manufacturing and commercial interests of Great Britain, is well received everywhere, and every facility is afforded him in prosecuting the object of his visit. It is his intention to go to all the great manufacturing towns of England, and perhaps his visit will extend to other countries, with the view of making his knowledge as complete as possible.

What and how heavily to tax, is the problem in which this country has a deeper interest than any other. It comprehends the entire question of our debt and credit. Our brief and serious experience has served to convince every one that our revenue system should be extensively remodeled. We commenced with taxing everything and with but little regard to the extent—so that while we have realized revenue, the fact has been demonstrated it has been at the hardest for the taxpayers. England taxes a few articles and realizes roundly for them. It is hardly probable that her system in every respect will answer our wants—the disparity between the people of the two countries suggests the improbability. Nevertheless Mr. WELLS will be able to gather much that is valuable suited to our case.

The field of American statesmanship is just here. We believe that there is no disputing this; but the country looks anxiously, not to say apprehensively, for some mind equal to the occasion. A system is wanted which will raise the revenue required and oppress the people least—so adjusted with import duties that the profits of American capital and skill will be secured to Americans to pay the American debt. This is to be an enduring question; all the more necessary is it, therefore, that the people should arrrive at convictions and infuse them into the Government. Congress will ever reflect the public judgment whenever clearly defined, and our system will be Protection or Free Trade as the people are.

IS A JUDGE RESPONSIBLE BEFORE THE PEOPLE?

The New York Tribune takes the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania to task for the way they propose to conduct the pending canvass. It objects to going back to the early sentiments and associations of SHARSWOOD, the Democratic candidate, and thinks the opinion of that gentleman on the legal tender law has nothing to do with the election, which it thinks should be conducted on other grounds—precisely what, it stops before telling us. It warns us of this State, however, against degrading our judiciary as they have in that, by electing a bad kind of men, and illogically enough argues that by making an issue on SHARSWOOD'S opinion we run the risk of degrading our judiciary.

Now the Tribune either does not know what it is talking about, or is unusually crooked. The moral, legal, personal, and political views of a man running for the Chief Justiceship of a State are fair matters of inquiry—indeed it is a high duty to know about the candidates in all these respects. If Judge SHARSWOOD were a libertinist, a gambler, or had even for once been known to accept a bribe, we conclude the Tribune would scarcely feel inclined to take issue with those who brought forward the proof. If on the bench he had committed himself to principles morally and legally unsound, or had given the weight of his learning in favor of Mormonism, for instance, that fact, we conclude, would furnish good ground for opposition, and probably we might claim the Tribune to be against him. The fact that he rendered the decision under the sanctities of his high place, properly enters into the matter only to render it all the more important, if the doctrine was pernicious, the man should not receive preferment. Now Judge SHARSWOOD has not, so far as we know, received a bribe or pronounced an opinion in support of Mormonism; but at the hour of greatest peril during the rebellion, when the fate of the Republic seemingly might be decided by trifles, he went out of his way to argue in support of a principle and enunciate doctrines, which, had they prevailed, would have been for the rebels as good as an army of men. The circumstances were such that convict SHARSWOOD of the wish to assist the rebellion and do something to oppose the Government. It is this the Tribune either does not understand, or understanding it, is wrong enough itself to wish not to see it condemned. Even did not the circumstance thus convict SHARSWOOD—even if he were exercised but by the most lofty sense of duty—would that be a reason why unsound or pernicious doctrines should not be urged against the expounder of them when he presents himself before the people?

Taken as it stands, the Tribune's idea would shield the judicial author of the worst of sentiments, and the people would be forever debarred from canvassing a candidate on points relating to their vital interests.

THE removal of General SHERIDAN has been determined on in Cabinet Council. General GRANT being displeased and declining to name his successor, the President is said to have chosen General HANCOCK. We think the first feeling will be of commisseration for General HANCOCK. If he goes to Louisiana to execute the will of Mr. JOHNSON, the pity of all his countrymen will follow him. If he goes to execute the laws and deal with disloyalty without fear or favor, he will deserve and no doubt need their support. In almost any view of the case, it was unkind of the President to take him away from the Indian business, which is far more reputable than Johnsonism and less difficult to manage than the rebellious elements in Louisiana. We hope he will prove equal to his new field. As for SHERIDAN, he has earned the hearty appobation of all the loyal people in the land, and it is probable he feels as though he has it. Going directly from the field of hardest fighting, he has developed qualities in the management of civil questions with which he had not generally been credited. General GRANT, however, knew him, and in backing him to the last he has now the thanks of his countrymen.

GOVERNOR GEARY and family and Hon. Frank Jordan and family arrived at the Cresson Springs Hotel, on Tuesday evening, and are now enjoying the pure mountain breezes of that favored locality.

THE New York Constitutional Convention gets on so slowly that Mr. Greeley, who thought six weeks would suffice, is quite out of patience. And the work does not appear to be half done yet. Some humorous anecdotes are related, rather at the expense of Mr. Greeley, who, even his critics must concede, is a valuable man to have in a deliberative body of that kind.

THE St. Louis Republican gives an encouraging account of the tin mines discovered in the northwest section of Madison county in that State. Cornish and Prussian miners pronounce them superior to similar mines in those countries. Parties are preparing to erect furnaces. There is probably much reality in the mines, but the balance is something else, as usual.

PARTIES of Southerners continue to depart at frequent intervals for Brazil. The accounts of the condition of those who went before are conflicting, but they do not deter others from going. The Mobile Tribune of the 25th inst. mentions a party of citizens, of Lowndes county, who started a few days since for Brazil. The Tribune says "they represent some of the best families of the State," and among them names Mr. Daniel Rast and son, Thomas Gordon, G. Dunklin and Geo. Davidson, Jr.

IN Maryland among the ruling classes politically are six thousand paroled rebel prisoners. In behalf of what men and measures they stand ready to cast their influence, no one can doubt. As usual, in such cases, they have become the courted of those in power, and Gov. Swann has gone among them for appointees to responsible positions. Such a state of things necessarily raises an important question: what shall be done in regard to this class as to suffrage? Maryland had a difficult position during the war, but she went through bravely. Her position is not less difficult, and challenges all the wisdom she can command.

Buttermilk vs. Claret.

The New York Gazette, which is bestowing some attention to the buttermilk question in that city, is responsible for the following:—A curious experiment has been tried with buttermilk by testing its modest qualities against the "regal purple stream" of claret. One who is in the secret will bet with one who isn't, that the latter, if blindfolded, cannot distinguish claret from buttermilk by the taste. Several glasses are filled with claret, and an equal number with buttermilk, and they are handed alternately to the blindfolded person, who tastes them. For a few turns he will name the respective liquid correctly; but after a while his sense of taste becomes confused, and he insists that buttermilk is claret, and vice versa. We have not ourselves seen this experiment tried; but we have been assured by persons on whom we can rely that they have frequently witnessed it, and that the result was always the same.

The Sugar Trade.

The New Orleans Times says: "It is now generally conceded by those who have taken the trouble to inform themselves upon the subject, that the yield of sugar in Louisiana this year will be much smaller than was at first anticipated. Our country exchanges confirm this opinion by their crop reports. The excessive rains, lasting throughout the period when the cane required most careful cultivation, prevented proper attention being given to it, but permitted the grass and weeds to grow up among and around the plants, choking and impeding their growth. In some cases the cane could not be properly 'laid by' on this account, and the consequence of these mischances is a very backward crop on nearly every sugar estate in Louisiana. In the Island of Cuba the very reverse seems to be the case. The weather has been more than usually favorable, no mishaps of any nature have occurred, and there is every prospect at present that the labors of the Cuban planters will be rewarded with a most abundant yield of cane sweets."

Cost of the Monitor Fleet.

The remarkable statements of Mr. Norman Wiard that the cost of our monitor fleet "exceeded two hundred millions of dollars," has brought out, in the New York Times, a writer who appears to know more about the subject than Mr. Wiard. His statements possess an interest to the general reader, independent of the correction they furnish to Mr. Wiard's charges. From them it appears that the first monitor cost $275,000. The contract price for the ten of the Passaic class was $400,000 each, to which must be added $20,000 each for additions in the way of extra work; this makes the cost of this fleet $4,200,000. The Dictator and Puritan cost $3,410,000. The cost of the Canonicus class was $570,000 each; there were nine of these, which makes the cost of this fleet $5,130,000. The four monitors of the Monadnock and Miantonomah class averaged $1,500,000 each; which makes the cost of this class $6,000,000. The cost of the twenty "light drafts" was, on an average, $500,000 each, which makes the cost of this fleet $10,000,000. The total cost of the forty-six iron-clads was, therefore, $29,015,000. The cost of the iron-clads used on the Atlantic coast during the war did not exceed $13,000,000. The above figures include the cost complete, ready for the guns, which cost, on an average, $6,000 each; and the whole of the above expenditure, with the exception of the original Monitor, was made with a greatly depreciated currency, with the premium on gold varying from 50 to 150.

A New Jersey Andersonville.

New Jersey almshouses must be a greater terror to paupers than its prisons are to evil-doers. In one of those cheerful institutions at Paterson, the most outrageous system of brutality has prevailed for some time, and is now just coming to light through the affidavits of some of the sufferers. One poor woman tells a story which brings an exclamation of horror to every lip. She was in the almshouse during her confinement, with her son about two years old, and while prostrated with weakness was unable to procure the washing of the baby's clothes or any adequate attendance. Her boy, also was sick, and so far from having appropriate food, was allowed but two crackers and a little watery milk a day by the keeper. When the feeble woman was able to crawl into the kitchen she did so to obtain, if possible, some food for her sick boy, who was crying with hunger. The keeper met her, and threatened her with the lock-up if she ever attempted to take more than the rules allowed. Fourteen soda crackers were dealt out every Saturday to last through the week. On Monday some other starving child stole and ate the whole remaining store—six crackers, not a very hearty meal. None were left for the four days remaining, and all that day the child starved without his pitiful allowance, the keeper refusing to give him any more. The poor mother cried herself, in her weakness, into a fit of delirium, and then the authority of this starvation house condescended to issue a few more crackers to her child. Another woman, a German, who is insane, ventured to disobey, through a misunderstanding, a trivial order of the matron about keeping her seat at the table, whereupon the keeper, whose name is Siglee, set upon her with a cane and beat her most unmercifully. As the affidavit says, "her screams were awful." One of the inmates of this Andersonville is an interesting little girl whose lower extremities are crippled so that she cannot move without assistance. This girl is kept on an allowance of two meals a day, in a perpetual state of hunger, unless some friend steals a bit of bread and takes it to her at the risk of a beating. This is economy with a vengeance. Does not New Jersey need another State Convention to take into consideration the rights of white men and women; or will negro suffrage cure this abomination?

A young gentleman of Virginia has contrived a new way to kill time—a little pastime which he calls "fly-loo." This game, according to a Lynchburg paper, may be played by any reasonable number of persons. The players' names are written on pieces of paper, and a lump of sugar on each. Then begins the eager excitement of waiting for a fly to light, and when it does so, the name of the player under which the sugar has attracted the fly has to treat all round. The game is very popular in the South.

GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

The exact amount of gold shipped from New York for all parts of the world, during the week ending on Saturday, was $3,491,960, making the whole sum since January 1, 1867, $39,578,393.

Over 6,000 pounds of "squidcague" or sea trout, were seined at Portsmouth, Rhode Island, one day last week by a single man. These fish resemble the salmon in shape, and weigh from two to ten pounds. They have been rather scarce for the last few years, but are becoming again quite common.

According to the Norfolk (Va.) Journal, the negroes of that city "have resolved that they will not patronize any merchant or vote for any man for office who does not advertise in the new Republican journal at that place, or otherwise patronize it according to their circumstances or the business in which they are engaged."

A Florence letter, referring to the Italian opinion of Maximilian's execution, says: "On the whole, the public recognizes that Juarez has dealt strict justice, has shown himself simply human, and acknowledges that, had he let the usurper go free, he would have been superhuman, not to say divine.

Immense deposits of tin ore have been found in Madison county, Missouri, not far from Pilot Knob and Iron Mountain. The lode is between 5,000 and 6,000 feet wide. Several smaller ones have already been found. The surface ore yields from three to fifteen per cent. These are the largest deposits known in the world.

The Omaha Republican, of July 26, has a report, apparently pretty well authenticated, that the Commissioners have located the capital in the southwest corner of Saunders county, about thirty miles distant from Omaha, and forty to forty-five from Nebraska City.

PERSONAL.

—The young Prince Izzedin Effendi, the heir apparent to the Ottoman Empire, is but a mere lad, and, unlike most Turks of a high rank, is almost as dark-complexioned as a Spaniard. The resemblance to his Imperial father is very striking, and is rendered almost whimsically great from the fact of them both wearing exactly the same kind of State uniform and the same riband and order. Prince Izzedin Effendi is, in other words, the Sultan in miniature.

—The Pope, although in his seventy-fifth year, rises every morning at five, and says mass at seven; he always dines alone, and is very abstemious. A little soup, two rougets (a kind of sardine), some vegetable, and an apple or two for dessert, and the Pope's dinner is over. His Holiness speaks Spanish with fluency, but his French has a decidedly Italian accent. He is an excellent Latin scholar.

—Emmanual Sullavou, a colored youth, has just entered Harvard College, as we learn from the New Bedford Mercury.

—Maximilian being dead, his fortune, estimated at ten to twelve millions of florins, only calculating his property at Miramar, Lacroma, and the artistic wealth collected there, revert to the Empress Charlotte. The will of Maximilian is there to attest it. But now comes the strange affair. It is asserted that the Empress Charlotte's will, written with her own hand, and which was carefully locked up in one of the rooms at Miramar, has suddenly disappeared, nobody knows how or where.

—Wm. Cullen Bryant's birth-place is near West Cummington. The poet bought it a few months ago. He found on one corner of the farm a tumble-down affair, and in answer to the question "What shanty is that?" was told that it was the district school house. He at once offered $500 toward building a new one.

—At the Surratt trial Monday, Mrs. Ann S. Stephens, the authoress, occupied her accustomed seat within the bar. She seems to take a lively interest in the proceedings, and, it is said, proposes one day to weave the facts and details into a history.

—The Philadelphia Press says: "The impressario, Daniel Ullman, is meditating a surreptitious and insidious attack on the Democracy. He has engaged a well-known mulatto, Alexandre Dumas, for a series of readings in the United States. This is sapping the very foundation of the great ethnological party."

Very interesting, but is our cotemporary quite certain that "Daniel Ullman" is going to do all this? We fancy that gentleman will be not a little amused when he sees the announcement.

—The Cincinnati papers impale poor Parton upon the points of their sharpest pens, for having talked "of the greatness and immense prospects of Chicago," given to St. Louis the position of "the metropolis of the valley of the Mississippi," and then for showing such "a very narrow preception of the reality," in the case of Cincinnati.

—Somebody has at length the secret of the Amazone Masque. She is declared to be the daughter of a celebrated Wallachian Princess, whose adventures made a terrible sensation in Paris some few years ago. The Amazone Masque, so goes the legend, has arrived in Paris for the sole purpose of seeking out her mother's destroyer and avenging her memory, and it is for this purpose that she rides all day in the Bois de Boulogne and the Champs Elysees, as the identity of the individual in question is only known to her through the portrait which was found attached to a gold chain round her dead mother's neck. Amazone is just five-and-twenty. She had nursed her intention of revenge for years past, but was hitherto compelled to inaction by her husband. Being now released from all restraint by his death, she makes the first use of her freedom to pursue her unknown enemy night and day. She goes armed to the teeth—a pair of pistols in her belt, a long sword by her side. Whether there be the smallest foundation for the tale, we know not, but we must say that in spite of the singularity of her appearance she is never followed by that escouade of horsemen who are, in general, beheld galloping after other individuals far less eccentric than the Amazone. On the contrary, it would seem as if the sound of her jingling sabre struck terror into the hearts of the cocodes, for they fly in a panic at her approach.

STATE POLITICS.

Some feeling is growing up between the Republicans of Chester county and those of Montgomery as to which shall furnish the candidate for the State Senate in place of Mr. Royer, whose term of service is expiring.

William P. Wilson, of Bellefoate, Center county, is announced as a candidate for State Senate in the Blair, Mifflin, Center, Perry and Huntingdon districts. A fellow-citizen says of him: "No man will presume to doubt his integrity, his republicanism, or his ability. He has been a faithful worker, and deserves consideration at the hands of Republicans. He cannot be purchased by any consideration to betray the men or principles he represents, and he represents the true interests of this county and district on every local and political question."

The Republican and Democratic nominating conventions of Huntingdon county will meet in Huntingdon next week. For State Senator on the Republican side Lewis W. Hall, Dr. Henry Orlady and Samuel McVitty are named. On the Democratic side R. B. Petrikin and David Caldwell are contesting for the nomination for Senator.

The Union State Central Committee are fitting up their headquarters at 22 North Second street, Harrisburg, and are now ready for the transaction of business there. The tidings from all sections of the State are most flattering.

"The Crawford County" system of nominating candidates by a direct vote of the party, was urged by the June convention for adoption in Lancaster county, and a resolution passed by that body instructing the county committee to prepare a plan for putting the system in force. At a meeting of the committee on Monday, in Lancaster city, it was resolved to refer the whole subject back to the people, and through them to the next Republican Convention of Lancaster county. Whereupon the Express waxes wroth at the committee for ignoring the main question, and says: "It is for the honest masses of the party to say how long and how far they will submit to this domination of the Thuggery system!"

REV. ISAAC AIKEN says in relation to the Greatest Dyspepsia Medicine of the Age.

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE.

(From the Presbyterian Banner.)

JOSEPH FLEMING, Druggist, No. 84 Market st., Pittsburgh:—I take great pleasure in stating that, after having suffered from dyspepsia for about fifteen years, at some periods much more than others, I have been entirely cured by the use of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure. My friends know that of late years my case was an extreme one. I had great suffering from eating any kind of food, and on an average would vomit about one-third of my meals, in a sour, undigested mass. When the severe attacks would come I would lose all strength and be utterly helpless. Some of these attacks would be so severe, that for days together I could not retain anything on my stomach save a little dry toast and tea. For years I knew not what it was to pass five consecutive hours without intense pain. From the time I took the first dose of this medicine, I ceased vomiting; gradually all soreness passed away, and flesh and strength returned; and ever since I have been able to eat any kind of food set upon the table.

Six months have now passed without symptoms of the return of the disease. The case was considered by all, even the physicians, so marvelous, that for a time it was feared it might be fictitious; but I am now so well convinced that I have been not merely relieved, but permanently cured, that I can conscientiously recommend Coe's Dyspepsia Cure to all the victims of dyspepsia.

MORE OF ANDERSONVILLE.

Wirz, the Inhuman Jailer.

Warren Lee Goss, formerly Sergeant Company H, 2d Mass. H. A., publishes in the Boston Traveller a statement shedding new light on the rebel management of Andersonville prison and Wirz, the inhuman jailer. He says:

My own knowledge of Wirz, not called for on the trial, but given in a narrative of prison sufferings which has been published, goes to confirm all that has been testified to relative to his guilt in the sacrifice of thousands of lives. On seeing him for the first time at the entrance of Andersonville, he said, in a rage, "By Got! you tam Yankees, you won't laugh ven you gets into the pull pen." On the second day I was in prison I was witness to the shooting of a prisoner by a sentinel, as was the custom, on an approach to the dead line, and for which, as testified to, the sentinels were rewarded. This poor fellow was a one legged cripple, and placed one hand on the line to support him while he got his crutch which had fallen to the ground. In this position he was shot through the lungs, and lay there writhing in death through most of the forenoon, no one daring to remove him lest they also should be shot. Such cases were common, and were encouraged in accordance with an order from Wirz. On one occasion near the southwest gate a wounded man, dizzy from heat, starvation and wounds, placed his hands against one of the dead line poses, when Wirz in a vulgar and abusive manner said "you gets back, or I shoots you damn Yankee son of a bitch," and this was followed by a shot from a sentinel, which missed the object, but wounded two men under their blanket some distance from him.

During the same month I saw a prisoner killed by a sentinel, while at a brook washing, near the dead line. On another occasion I saw Wirz knock a fainting man in the head with the butt of his pistol, when he left the man senseless; and a comrade told me that Wirz threatened him with death because, fainting from heat, he attempted to leave the line to get some water. These instances came under my notice casually, and, knowing the character of Wirz, I kept out of his way as much as possible.

As further evidence of inhumanity, when with others I escaped from prison, and was hunted by bloodhounds and brought back, Wirz addressed the hunter, "Vell, did you make de togs pite 'im goot?" and, to the answer "No," said, "Vell, you must next time." This hunter of negroes with bloodhounds, hardened as he might be supposed to be, replied to Wirz, "I thought they were miserable enough as it was." It was a common thing to put weak, half-starved men into chain-gangs of fifteen or twenty outside of the prison, very few of whom survived their punishment.

In relation to the alleged want of rations, the cause of much of the suffering and death, the rebels never pretended to us that they had no food at such times, but, on the contrary, boasted of plenty, and the fact that a large army was afterwards subsisted on the neighboring country ought to be proof that there was no lack of food. It is further well known that Andersonville is situated where corn has been grown in abundance, and from its nearness to Florida it is believed that plenty of beef could be had. Short as were the rations provided, the misery endured from want of food was frequently aggravated by stopping those rations forty-eight hours at a time. Another alleged want was that of obtaining timber for the prison. If the timber was wanted for shelter or firewood, there was enough of it, for Andersonville was surrounded by a dense pine forest. The prisoners would have been glad to have been detailed to cut wood for shelter and cooking, and much of their untold sufferings were due to the exposure to the hot sun and rains without shelter, and to eating uncooked food. Another indisputable want—that of good water—the prisoners being obliged to use the brackish and filthy stream which was the sewer of the prison, might easily have been supplied. By accident a spring was opened in the side of a hill, which met this want to some extent, and indicated that an abundant supply might be obtained had the prisoners been allowed in their feebleness to search and dig for such springs.

SECOND GRAND

Presentation Entertainment

WILL POSITIVELY TAKE PLACE,

SATURDAY, Aug. 24, 1867,

AT

IRVING HALL,

NEW YORK.

This Grand Distribution of Prizes will be conducted on the

MUTUAL BENEFIT PRINCIPLE.

A PRO RATA DISTRIBUTION OF PROFITS TO TICKET HOLDERS.

CAPITAL, $1,287,148.

TICKETS ONE DOLLAR EACH,

And limited to One Million Two Hundred and Eighty-seven Thousand One Hundred and Forty-Eight.

THE FAIREST AND MOST IMPARTIAL PLAN OF PRESENTATION YET OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

A Prize with Every Ticket.

PROSPECTUS.

A number of the leading Bankers and Merchants of New York, in consideration of the great success which has attended many of the Charitable Presentation Entertainments of the day, have organized themselves into a company, with the view of inaugurating an enterprise which, while it shall return them a fair profit, shall offer greater advantages to ticket-purchasers than any yet presented; and which being conducted upon a perfectly legitimate and business basis, shall be free from those objectionable features which have characterized many of these enterprises.

To this end they have consigned the sale of tickets, and the registering the same, to Clark, Webster & Co., Bankers and Managers, No. 62 Broadway, New York, who will keep the records in their custody until the day of the Grand Presentation Entertainment, when they will be handed over to a committee selected by the audience to make an impartial distribution of prizes.

A reference to the number of prizes and the general plan of distribution, given below, will convince even the most skeptical of the great advantages which will accrue to all who participate in the enterprise; and the Commercial and Financial standing of the Company, and the Managers and Bankers thereof, will, they hope, prove a sufficient guaranty of the fairness and impartiality with which everything in connection with the scheme will be conducted, and that the interests of ticket-holders will be most strictly watched over and guarded. In fact, it is the desire of the Managers to conduct every transaction for the mutual benefit of whoever shall purchase a ticket, and scrupulously to avoid any and everything which could in the slightest degree diminish the profits which are likely to accrue to all who invest.

PROPOSALS.

IMPROVEMENT

OF THE

Des Moines Rapids,

OF THE

MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

U. S. ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
Davenport, Iowa, July 24, 1867.

SEALED PROPOSALS, in duplicate, will be received at this office until 12 M., WEDNESDAY, September 4th, 1867, for excavating the prism, and constructing the embankment wall of the canal for the improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi River at the Des Moines Rapids.

The canal is to be about 7½ (seven and one-half) miles long, extending from Nashville to Keokuk, Iowa. The width at the water surface inside the canal to be 300 (three hundred) feet in embankment, and 250 (two hundred and fifty) feet in excavation and in low water to be 5 (five) feet deep. All the material excavated from the prism of the canal to be used in building the embankment. The latter throughout the greater part of the distance, will be about 300 (three hundred) feet, from the Iowa shore. Where rock excavation occurs, the bottom of the canal will have a slope of 1½ (one and one-half) inches to the mile. The embankment is to be built of earth clay and rock; to be 10 (ten) feet wide on top including the rip-rap covering, to be 2 (two) feet above high water mark with slopes of 1½ (one and one-half) base to 1 (one) verticle. The average thickness of the rip-rap protection to be 2½ (two and one-half) feet on the river side, 2 (two) feet on the canal side and 1 (one) foot on top.

All propositions must state the price at which each and every kind of work specified in the proposal is to be done, and no bid will be considered that is not definite in this respect.

The Government reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

A printed copy of this advertisement must be attached to each proposal.

Each bid must contain a written or printed guaranty signed by two responsible persons.

Blanks for proposals of the form required with form of guaranty will be furnished at this office on application.

The price or prices in the contract will be considered as including the expense of furnishing all the materials and performing all the work, according to the plans and specifications exhibited at the letting.

The entire cost of the canal is estimated at $2,068,345 (two millions, sixty-eight thousand three hundred and forty-five.) The amount appropriated by Congress is $700,000 (seven hundred thousand dollars)—the contract can only be made to cover this amount.

Fifteen (15) per cent. of the amount of any work done or materials furnished, at the contract price thereof, will be reserved until the whole work, which is the subject of contract, shall be entirely completed.

Persons desiring further information can obtain the same by calling at this office, where maps, plans, specification, and form of contract can be consulted.

Proposals must be addressed to the undersigned and should be indorsed, "Proposals for work on the Improvement of the Des Moines Rapids."

RELIABLE.

MESSRS. FAHNESTOCK & HOLTON—GENTLEMEN: I have been suffering with Chronic Dyspepsia for about twelve years, in its worst form, which I think one of the most disagreeable, unpleasant and painful diseases of them all. I have tried one remedy after another, without any but temporary relief. After using different medicines recommended for its cure, I would sometimes feel relieved, but would soon fall back, in fact, more than ever. I have been using

MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS

Regularly, for about six weeks. I feel satisfied that they have cured me entirely, as my general health is very good. I can eat whatever my appetite craves without any unpleasant feelings afterwards, which was a great trouble before, often having to throw up my meals. After using the Bitters a short time, I eat Soup, something I have not been able to do for years satisfactorily. I really think I am a changed man entirely, altogether owing to the efficacy of MISHLER'S HERB BITTERS. Those suffering with the same disease, Dyspepsia, are at liberty to call on me at any time at my place of business, Slack & Sholes' Planing Mill, Marbury street, Pittsburgh.

he Presbyterians of Scotland.

r. Bryant writes to his Evening Post from nburgh, and gives a clear account of the erences between the various Presbyterian rches of Scotland: "It is remarkable that so many Presbyterian sects as exist here— of them in all—they should so perfectly e in matters of doctrine. They quarrel only cerning questions of ecclesiastical organiza- . The Presbyterians of the Established rch not only claim that public wor- should be supported by the ernment, but allow the Govern- t to interfere in certain ecclesiastical ters, and permit the pastoral charge of par- s to be given by laymen to their friends. Presbyterians of the Free Church insist the church ought to be supported by the ernment, but deny its right to interfere in ecclesiastical concerns. The United Pres- rians insist that the government should e nothing to do with the church, either in porting its ministers or in any other man- Presbyterians of the Reformed Church only agree with the United Presbyterians in se respects, but insist that until the temporal ereign of the country becomes pledged to covenant there is no obligaton on the t of the subject to obey. This sect is y small, and notwithstanding the apparently oyal tenet I have mentioned, is composed ersons as obedient to the laws and the civil hority, and as orderly in their conduct as er of the others. I said the other day to a ttish clergyman: 'Your churches have all ained faithful to the doctrines of Calvin; is there no change in the mode in which se doctrines are taught?' 'Most certainly re is,' he answered. 'We dwell more on ies and less on the abstruser parts of our ef; more on those aspects of our faith which sent motives of action, and less upon those ich but remotely influence human conduct. this way the teachings of Calvinists and ninians sensibly approach each other.'"

REGARDING RITUALISM.—If any superficial erver has arrived at the conclusion that the glish ritualists were having matters all their n way, or that the matter is regarded by the ss of Episcopalians in the mild, milky man- in which it is considered by Rev. Mr. Dix, commend the following from the London ening Star to that superficial observer's at- tion:

he late Dr. March said of these ritualists: hey put tradition in the place of Scripture; priesthood in the place of Christ; and the raments in the place of the Holy Spirit." re are said to be nearly two thousand of se sad troublers of our Israel. I heartily h they would leave us and go where they ase—either to Rome or Greece—or to Jericho hey like. We know that light hath no com- nion with darkness; we know also that ery is but a corruption of Christianity. d yet these ritualists are longing for union h Rome. What delusion! What infatua- ! The strength and glory of our country is Protestantism, by which I mean its faith- witness for the truth against Roman error, h in doctrine and practice; but both name l thing are odious to ritualists; so also is ngelicalism to Low Churchism, as they call Now, a Low Churchman has been described a firm adherer to the fundamental truths of faith, not a builder up in ritualism, vest- nts, incense, all ending in smoke. The ural instinct and strong good sense of our ople are decidedly averse to this showy, os- tatious ritualism."

ROLLING MILL FOR SALE

Frank Semple and William Tatnall, plaintiffs, vs. Francis Sellers, Reese Owens and Robert Moody, defendants	In the District Court of Allegheny County. No. 315, July Term, 1867.

Pursuant to an order of the District Court of Allegheny County, sitting in Equity in the above case, the undersigned Receiver, appointed by the said Court, offers for sale

THE EXCELSIOR IRON WORKS

CONSISTING OF

ROLLING MILL

AND

HINGE FACTORY,

Situated two and a half miles below Pittsburgh, on the Ohio river, adjoining the Pittsburgh Forge and Iron Company's Works, and a short distance below the Superior Rail Mill and Manchester Locomotive Works; can be reached by Accommodation trains on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company and Manchester Street Cars.

The Mill comprises thirteen Boiling Furnaces, one Scrap Furnace, and five Heating Furnaces, Patent Squeezer, Muck Mill, Sheet Mill, 15-inch Bar Mill, and 8 inch Guide Mill; five Boilers, one 26-inch Cylinder Engine, five feet stroke entirely new, of superior workmanship, made by Messrs. Macintosh, Hemphill & Co.; one 15-inch Cylinder Engine, new, for running 8-inch Mill Shears, Lathes, &c., &c. Hinge Factory for manufacturing Strap and T Hinges, all in complete running order; capacity can be doubled at small expense. In connection with Hinge Factory is a complete Machine Shop, with Engine, Lathes, Plainers, Drills, Presses, &c., &c.

Also, lot of Assorted Iron, Juniata Bloom; 20 tons Metal, assorted; Fire Brick, Horses, Mules, Wagons, Carts, Harness, etc., etc.

In addition there are twenty-eight Dwelling Houses for hands, and one house for manager.

Real Estate comprises eight Acres of Ground, extending from P., Ft. W. & C. RR. track to the Ohio river, with a river front of 326 feet. A switch from the P., Ft. W. & C. RR. extends to the Mill; this with the river affords unsurpassed facilities for receiving coal and metal and shipping product.

The sale will take place on the premises on

TUESDAY, 3d day of Sept., 1867,

AT 11 O'CLOCK, A. M.,

By PUBLIC OUTCRY, TO THE HIGHEST BIDDER.

Terms—One-third cash, balance in equal payments, twelve and eighteen months, with interest, secured by bond and mortgage on the premises.

The attention of capitalists is called to this sale as affording a rare opportunity for profitable investment.

Persons desirous of purchasing will please call on the undersigned at No. 133 Wood street, Pittsburgh, Pa., who will show them the premises.

M. B. LOWRIE CHILDS,

TTHS RECEIVER.

FOR SALE.

THE ELEGANT RESIDENCE of Joshua Rhodes, Esq., on the corner of Western avenue and Bidwell street, Allegheny city.

This is a large double house; forty-five feet front, with extensive and commodious back buildings, in perfect order and condition, containing all the conveniences which could be desired, and with a wide verandah running the full length of its front.

The grounds are tastefully laid out, ornamented with fine trees, shrubbery and flowers, and embrace an excellent garden containing an abundance of grapes and other fruits.

On the premises are, also, substantial and roomy Brick Stables, well built and conveniently arranged. The whole lot is 219 feet in front on Western avenue, by 278 feet in depth on Bidwell street, and will be sold, either as a whole, or in three portions. One lot 85 front, on the corner of Bidwell street, being that on which is the House and Stable, and the other two lots being, each, 67 feet front on the avenue, running back 278 feet to an alley.

CITY MATTERS.

SHOULD BE REPAIRED.—The bridge on the Seventh street road, at its junction with the Pennsylvania Railroad track, is in a very unsafe condition, and should be repaired at once.

RECOVERED.—Mr. Thomas Costamagna, proprietor of the White House, at Perrysville, who was severely injured about two weeks since, has recovered and is now able to receive and care for his guests as usual.

SCULLING CHALLENGE.—As will be seen by a card in another column, Fred. Wolf challenges Henry Coltart, of the Xanthe Boat Club, to row a scull race over the Monongahela course, a distance of five miles, for two hundred to five hundred dollars a side.

THE LICENSE COURT.—The County Commissioners were in session yesterday in the Quarter Sessions Court room, hearing applicants for license to retail liquors. Eighty-four applications which had been made, were heard, after which the Commissioners took charge of the papers.

SOLDIERS' LEAGUE MEETING.—A meeting of the Allegheny County Soldiers' League was held at their hall in Allegheny, on Tuesday evening. A number of applications for membership were received and favorably acted upon, and several were initiated. Donations of money to the amount of $83 50 and of several volumes of books to the Library, were acknowledged. An interesting interchange of opinion on matters of general importance took place, and after transacting some routine business, the League adjourned.

NEW PORTRAIT GALLERY.—Sheriff Cluley has taken the initiatory steps towards having the likeness of as many of the ex-Sheriffs of the county as possible taken, for the purpose of having them placed permanently upon the walls of the office. Some half dozen have already been collected, and it is proposed that all ex-Sheriffs still living send their likeness to Mr. Cluley, or in case of death, friends having portraits forward copies at once. The project of establishing such a gallery has frequently been discussed, and Mr. Cluley has decided to carry it out as far as possible.

FIRE IN EAST BIRMINGHAM.—At half-past four o'clock yesterday morning, fire was discovered in the straw house connected with the Flint Glass Works of Messrs. Bryce, Hartley & Co., on Railroad street, East Birmingham. The building is a two story brick, and is detached from the works, so no damage was done to the latter. All the straw in the house was burned, but the building being fire-proof, it was not injured. The firemen were promptly on the ground, and prevented injury to the surrounding buildings. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

FIRES DURING LAST MONTH.—Samuel T. Paisley, Esq., Superintendent of the Fire Alarm Telegraph, reports the following business done at the Central Office during the month of July: Number of alarms struck, ten; in striking the alarms two hundred and fifty-seven blows were struck on the tower bell, and in striking the hour, two hundred and forty-eight blows were struck. The largest fire of the month was that by which the outer depot shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad were burned, on the 5th inst. The amount of loss and insurance have not yet been officially reported.

MAN SERIOUSLY SCALDED.—Yesterday afternoon, about half past four o'clock, one of the workmen employed in repairing the sewer on Strawberry alley, near Smithfield street, was very seriously scalded. He was working in the sewer, when the pipe from the plumbing establishment of Messrs. Bailey, Farrell & Co., on Smithfield street, it is supposed, bursted, and the escaping steam from it enveloped him, scalding him terribly, and almost pealing the skin from the flesh. He was carried into a drug store near by, where he was attended by a physician, and was afterwards removed to his home.

PORT PERRY M. E. CHURCH.—The Methodist Episcopal Church at Port Perry, of which Rev. Mr. Miller is pastor, which has been closed for several weeks past, will be reopened for divine service on Sabbath next, and services will be held in the morning, afternoon and evening. The building has been thoroughly repaired and renovated during the time it has been closed, and now presents a very neat appearance. The exterior has been painted, and a new roof put on. The interior has also been repainted, and the walls papered in an appropriate manner. The congregation is in a prosperous condition under the ministrations of Rev. Mr. Miller.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Robert Seymour, employed at the Duquesne Iron Works of Hailman, Rahm & Co., in the Fifth ward, met with a severe accident a day or two since. Seymour and some other workmen were engaged removing some rolls by means of a crane, when the handle was jerked out of the hands of one of the workmen, and in its revolutions it gave him a severe stroke on the head, which knocked him senseless. It was first thought his skull was fractured, but an examination proved that not to be the fact, and no serious results were apprehended. The injured man was taken to his residence on Mulberry alley, where he is attended by Dr. Kearns, of the Fifth ward.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday, a man named John Malone took passage on the afternoon express train on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, with the intention of going to Woods' Run. Upon arriving at his destination, he discovered that the train did not stop at that point, when he jumped off and fell heavily to the ground. He was picked up immediately and carried into Mr. Connor's grocery store, when it was discovered that his right wrist had been dislocated, his forearm fractured, and his nose broken. Drs. Cummins and Harrah were sent for, who dressed the wounds. The injured man was much better yesterday, and will, with proper treatment, recover in a short time. His escape from instant death was miraculous.

Supposed Pickpockets Arrested.

Officer Frank Campbell, of the Allegheny night watch, on Tuesday night arrested two men giving their names as James Quinn and Peter Gallagher, on suspicion of picking the pocket of a man named Jackson. Officer Campbell was passing down Federal street on Tuesday night, and when near the Allegheny House, he observed the accused apparently fumbling in the pockets of a man who was lying on the sidewalk. He immediately arrested them, and after conveying them to the lock-up, went back for the man who was robbed. He found him in an almost insensible state from intoxication, but succeeded in taking him to the Mayor's office, where he and the alleged pickpockets remained over night. Yesterday morning Quinn and Gallagher had a hearing before Mayor Morrison, but as Jackson could not state whether he lost anything or not, and as no money was found in the possession of the accused, they were discharged. The officer, however, is positive that he saw them have their hands in Jackson's pocket.

The State Fair—Premium List.

The Premium List of the fifteenth annual exhibition of the Pennsylvania State Agricultural Society, which will be held in this city on the 24th, 25th, 26th and 27th of September next, has already been issued, and occupies a pamphlet of forty pages. The prizes offered are unusually large, and as the Society does not confine the field of competition to our own State, it is anticipated that entries will be made from various portions of the country. The Executive Committee will take every precaution for the safety of stock and articles on exhibition, and if one day's notice is given, will convey articles from the railroad depots to the grounds free of charge. The most liberal arrangements for the transportation of all articles intended for exhibition to and from the Fair, are now being made with the various railroad companies of the State, complete details of which will be published about the first of September. In accordance with a resolution adopted by the State Society in January last, no premiums will be awarded to mowing or reaping machines, sewing machines or musical instruments, but the judges may notice in entries the specific advantages claimed by the exhibitor or maker, and recommend an award. The resolution also applies generally to all farm implements, except there be an actual and practical test made by the judges. Premiums ranging from one to fifty dollars are offering and classified as follows: No. 1, Foreign imported cattle; No. 2, Durham (short horn) and Devon cattle; No. 3, Alderney, Ayrshire, Holstein and all other thorough breeds not included in Nos. 1 and 2; No. 4, Herds, working oxen, fat cattle; No. 5, Native and grade cows; No. 6, Imported and thorough bred horses; No. 7, Trotting horses and mares; No. 8, Matched horses; No. 9, Stallions and mares; No. 10, Stallions and mares for all work; No. 11, Jacks and mules; No. 12, Flocks and fleeces, No. 13, Imported and thorough bred sheep; No. 14, other breeds of sheep and for the market; No. 15, Swine; No. 16, poultry; No. 17, plows; No. 18, reaping and mowing machines; No. 19, threshing machines, fanning mills, hay, straw, stalk and vegetable cutters, corn shellers, crushers, horse powers; No. 20, cider mills, churns, pumps, buckets and articles of similar character; No. 21, rollers, cultivators, grain drills, planters and sowers; No. 22, wagons, carts, riggings, drays, carriages, barrows, &c.; No. 23, farm tools, horse rakes, Scythes, forks, axes, &c.; No. 24, steam engines, heavy castings, saws, &c.; No. 25, general display of agricultural implements; No. 26, iron, steel, copper, minerals and acids; No. 27, leather and its manufactures; No. 28, butter, cheese and honey, No. 29, flour and Indian meal; No. 30, grain and seeds; No. 31, beet sugar, sugar machinery, sorghum, molasses, sugar crops; No. 32, vegetables; No. 32, grapes, cider, cordials, vinegar, &c.; No. 24, fruits; No. 25, flowers and designs; No. 36, stoves and tinware; No. 37, mantles, glass, cutlery, gas lamps, &c.; No. 38, cloths, linens, carpetings, shirtings; No. 39, needle works, embroidery, &c.; No. 40, knitting, crochet, shell work, &c.; No. 41, bread, cakes and pastry; No. 42, preserves, jellies, preserved fruits and vegetables; No. 43, fine arts, paintings, photography, carving and penmanship; No. 44, mercantile displays; No. 45, silver ware, pianos, sewing machines, &c.; No. 46, unclassified entries; No. 47, essays; No. 48, winter crops—agricultural productions, field crops.

Persons desiring further information will receive it by addressing A. B. Longaker, Esq., Secretary, Norristown or Pittsburgh.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Meeting of Managers—The Approaching State Fair—Delegates Elected to the State Agricultural College—Resolution of Thanks.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Managers of the Allegheny County Agricultural Society was held yesterday morning, at ten o'clock, at the office of Messrs. Phelps, Parke & Co., on St. Clair street, this city. The members present were Messrs. Bockstoce, Brush, Hodgson, G. G. Negley, Oliver, Parke, Jennings and Young. Judge Parke occupied the chair, and Wm. Anderson, Esq., officiated as Secretary.

The minutes of the two last meetings were read and approved.

Judge Parke, from the Special Committee appointed to see that the race track at Iron City Park would be put in proper repair for the holding of the State Fair in September, reported that the Messrs. Zimmerman, the proprietors of the Park, refused to have the same done.

On motion of Mr. Young, the report was accepted and the committee instructed to proceed at once, if the Messrs. Zimmerman have not already commenced, to put the race track in proper order, at the expense of the proprietors of the Park. The motion was adopted.

Judge Parke, from the committee, appointed to solicit subscriptions for the State Fair, reported progress.

On motion, the report was received and the committee instructed to obtain such other information as may be necessary to close up the account, and that at the next meeting a list of the names of contributors be prepared for publication. Adopted.

A communication was read from John Fraser, Esq., President of the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, announcing that the annual meeting of delegates from the various Agricultural Societies throughout the State, will be held at the College, in Center county, on Wednesday next, September 4th, and asking this Society to elect three delegates to attend said meeting.

On motion the Society then proceeded to the election of delegates to the College, when the following named gentlemen were chosen to represent the Allegheny County Society, in connection with James Kelly, Esq., of Wilkins township, who is a Trustee of the College: John Scott, of East Liberty; John F. Jennings, of Allegheny City; Gen. James S. Negley, of Liberty township.

The following resolution was offered by Mr. Brush, (Mr. Jennings in the chair,) and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of this Society are due and are hereby tendered to Judge Parke, for his energy and untiring industry in making collections of funds necessary for the approaching State Fair.

The Society then adjourned to meet at the same place on the last Wednesday (27th) of August, at 10 o'clock A. M.

AQUATIC SPORTS.

The Sculling Championship—The Great Four-Oared Match.

On the question of the sculling championship, the New York Clipper of this week says: "By some questionable sort of proceeding—to put it in a mild form—Walter Brown succeeded in obtaining a decision in his favor when he rowed James Hamill on the Monongahela, at Pittsburgh, in May last. That decision also conferred upon him champion honors. Since that event Hamill has repeatedly offered to make a fresh match with Brown and row him for the championship, yet the latter has maintained an inexcusable silence, and thereby permitted the office to revert to Hamill, who, no doubt, is better fitted to wear the honors than Brown. A champion is obliged to accept all fair, reasonable challenges. This Hamill always did when he occupied the position, and asked no advantage that he was not willing to concede to another. Brown has either refused to accept Hamill's challenges or suffered them to pass unnoticed, and, therefore, he can no longer claim the office of champion. His career has been short, and by no means creditable. Hereafter aspirants for sculling champion honors will have to meet James Hamill, the Champion Sculler of America."

The St. John's four-oared crew have accepted the Ward Brothers' proposition to row a five mile race at Springfield Mass., and the articles are to be signed to-day at Boston.

New Feature in Pittsburgh Manufactures—The Atlantic Job Press.

We always desire to make the COMMERCIAL a medium of bringing before the public evidences of Pittsburgh energy and enterprise, and we regard all who add to the variety of our manufacturing industry as well worthy of public approbation—for while they labor to add to their own incomes they also contribute to increase the aggregate wealth of our city. In this connection we would call the attention of our exchanges and printers generally to the "Atlantic Job Press," invented by Mr. William Heckert, and manufactured for him and his partners, by Messrs. Foster & Co., of the Heron Works. This press has many new and valuable features, and will, we have no doubt, soon win its way into favorable public notice; all who have examined it have expressed themselves highly pleased. A description of the Atlantic will give printers a correct idea of its merits, and enable them to contrast it with those now in use.

The bed is stationary while working—the edge of the type standing in a perpendicular line, thus preventing them from falling out of the form; it can be moved from a perpendicular to a horizontal position, so as to receive the form or make corrections, without removing the chase; it being accessible from any side of the press, and free from all impediments, and is arranged to receive the chase in either way, so that the pressman may change the form without unlocking; it is also provided with adjustable roller-bearers, so as to accommodate the size or condition of the rollers and form. The inking rollers, after passing down over the form, revolve, thus shifting their position, and securing, while returning, a more perfect distribution over the form and table. The roller arms are so constructed that the power of the springs may be either increased or diminished, as the condition of the rollers or work may require. The ink table is composed of two rotating dices, turning in the same plane and in opposite directions. It is so constructed that the outer disc can be made to remain stationary while the inner one revolves, thus securing a perfect distribution while working small forms, and at the same time covering only one-half of table, which economizes ink, and also labor in washing the table and rollers. The table can readily be removed for the purpose of washing or warming. The platen, after being thrown back to an inclined position for the purpose of receiving the sheet or card, moves in the arc of a circle, from an inclined to a vertical plane, and then in a right line to and from the form. The grippers are so arranged that they can be slid in a horizontal, as well as perpendicular line, or they may be removed entirely. By the attachment of a friction clutch, the press can be stopped instantly, and started gradually at whatever position the platen may be in: this is so arranged that the pressman may, by a simple movement of the lever, change the power from steam to treadle, so as to regulate and procure the first impression. The pressure is adjusted by means of three screws, all of which may be operated with the greatest convenience, without moving from the front of the press. The form is worked on any part of the bed with equal facility.

In all respects we regard the Atlantic as fully equal to, if not superior to any job press now in use, and we advise all in the business to send to the manufacturers for a circular and card of rates.

Mr. Heckert, we understand, is now engaged in getting up a Single Cylinder Press for newspaper printing, which he is confident will do as much work as Hoe's double cylinder, and can be afforded at a price much less than any double cylinder press now manufactured.

An Alleged Swindler.

About a month since an elderly man calling himself Dr. John Ely, and representing himself to be a minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church, arrived in this city apparently in needy circumstances. Shortly after his arrival, he called upon several of our prominent ministers and by exhibiting documentary evidences, succeeded in ingratiating himself into their confidence. He stated that he was a resident of Charleston, S. C., when the war broke out, and was offered a coloneley in the rebel army. He, however, remained true to the flag, fled from his home and a handsome competence and enlisted as a private in the Union ranks, was taken prisoner, and after suffering untold privations, was released by order of General Lee. He professed also to be a physician, and said that he only desired sufficient aid to enable him to live until he could establish himself in practice.. His appeal created a sympathy for him, and he was permitted to make his statements to the congregations of several Methodist Churches, when collections were taken up in his behalf which realized him a handsome amount. He also visited a number of members of the Masonic fraternity, and by representing himself to be a Master Mason, secured a sufficient sum of money to alleviate his present distresses. He also called upon an Episcopal Clergyman, to whom he stated that it was his intention to connect himself with that branch of the church, and a visit to a minister of a United Presbyterian Church in Allegheny, secured him an invitation to assist in administering the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, on Sunday next. No suspicion as to the truth of his story, apparently existed in the minds of any one until yesterday, when it was ascertained through the medium of the National Freemason, a paper published in New York, that he was a confidence man, and instead of having been in the Union army, had actually been released a short time since from the penitentiary at Trenton, N. J., where he had served a term of three years for bigamy. It appears strange that no one felt a sufficient interest in the matter to institute inquiries in regard to his story, or examine his testimonials more closely. The amount of money that he has secured in this community, will probably amount to $500 or $600.

JAIL IMPROVEMENTS.—Extensive improvements are at present going on in the county jail. The entire building has been thoroughly renovated, and placed in a better sanitary condition. The whole interior has been newly painted, and the walls in the yard whitewashed. The office has been newly painted and refitted in handsome style, and provided with new desks.

PETITION IN BANKRUPTCY.—A petition in bankruptcy was filed in the United States District Court yesterday, against Wm. Burns, surviving partner of the firm of S. & W. Burns.

THE LATE LOCKOUT.

The Beginning and the End—Its Effects on the Business Interests of Pittsburgh—The Number of Men out of Employment—All Parties Satisfied with the Compromise Between the Iron Masters and the Iron Workers—What has been Lost by the Strike.

The great lockout, as it is now generally termed, which has since the twelfth of January last closed, or nearly closed, our rolling mills, is now regarded, by all parties concerned as at an end. Mention has previously been made of the meeting held at Boiler's Hall, on Saturday evening last, where a compromise plan was submitted and approved by those present. The iron workers generally appear to be satisfied with the compromise and express their intention of observing it.

The suspension of labor has been one of the most extensive that has ever occurred in this locality, and the effects have been felt by all classes of society. It was rumored in December, 1866, that on the fifteenth of the following January the various iron mills in the city and vicinity would suspend business on account of a difficulty about wages. The proprietors of the rolling mills had notified their puddlers that the wages they were then paying would have to be reduced, as they could no longer give nine dollars per ton. The workingmen refused to submit to any reduction, and a strike, or lockout, as it is now called, was the result.

On Monday, December 10th, the rolling mill of Jones & Laughlin, Brownstown, which had been paying nine dollars per ton for a week, stopped, and it was expected that other mills would soon follow this example. On Saturday, January 12th, the Duquesne Iron Works, and the rolling mills of Zug & Co., in the Fifth ward, stopped. Nearly all the mills in this vicinity also stopped at this time. The only mills that continued in operation, were the following: Lyon, Shorb & Co., Monongahela Borough; Hutchinson, Glass & Co., Soho Run; Gregg's mills, Four Mile Run; and the mill of Hussey, Wells & Co., Fifth ward. These mills continued to run all winter.

Affairs remained in this situation, the matter being freely discussed, and on Tuesday evening, March 12th, in accordance with a call issued by the Trades' Assembly, a mass meeting of working men was held at City Hall, about two thousand persons being in attendance. Speeches were made by several gentlemen, urging the workingmen to unite and maintain the position they had taken. A series of resolutions, denouncing the Tioga, or Landlord and Tenant act, and recommending the establishment of a daily paper devoted to the interests of the laboringmen, were adopted.

On Monday evening, March 18th, a disturbance occurred at a tavern in the Ninth Ward, between some molders that had been brought to this city from Buffalo, to work in one of the mills, and some of the men who were out of employment. This increased the excitement. The Iron Molders' Union, at a meeting held on the Friday evening following, passed some resolutions, one of which stated the members of the Union claimed to be as a body peaceable, law abiding citizens, and were opposed to all or any breaches of the peace.

On Monday, April 1st, several of the mills commenced running a few furnaces, paying nine dollars per ton, but this was not considered as materially changing the state of affairs. Affairs remained in this state, with no immediate prospect of a settlement until a card appeared in the Advocate, of April 24th, from Messrs. Zug & Co., of the Sable Works, stating that they would hand over their mill one year to any responsible party, on the condition that the mill should be run to the extent of its capacity, and the party should pay over to them, as their share of the profits, the average difference between the prices then demanded in Pittsburgh, and those then paid per ton in Eastern Pennsylvania, New York, New England and New Jersey. This proposition was not accepted. At this time several of the mills were running partially, and there were not so many men out of employment as during the winter. The principle of co-operation began to be discussed, and several meetings were held with a view to establishing co-operatives store; one of the largest meetings of the kind was held in Excelsior Hall, Allegheny city, on Friday evening, May 3d.

The mill of Jones & Laughlin started April 30th, and has been running ever since; Zug & Co. also started the first of May. The Duquesne Iron Works also commenced running. These establishments, however, still claimed that they could afford to pay the prices asked, and did not run the full number of furnaces.

On Saturday morning, June 22d, a train of cars direct from New York, arrived at the Union Depot, containing over two hundred iron workers from Germany. These were put at work in some of the mills and considerable excitement was the result.

On Saturday evening, June 29th, a mass meeting was held in front of Boiler's Hall, corner of Fifth and Smithfield streets, a large crowd being in attendance. The importation of laborers was denounced by the speakers and in the resolutions which were adopted. Another meeting of a similar character was also held in Allegheny City a few evenings after.

In the early part of last week a committee from the Iron Master's Association, and a committee from the Iron Workers' Association, met and agreed upon a compromise, which was submitted to the last mentioned body on Saturday evening last, and ratified by them. This compromise which has already been published, allows the boilers nine dollars per ton until the 17th of the present month. After that they submit to a reduction of one dollar per ton, with an agreement that a further reduction shall take place in case the price of iron decreases. This arrangement seems to be accepted by all parties as final, and in a few weeks the mills will undoubtedly be running to their full capacity.

The number of men out of employment, March 1st, was estimated to be as follows: Puddlers, 700; helpers, nail laborers and others dependent on the work of the puddlers for support, 3,000; miners on the south side of the Monongahela, on the Youghiogheny, and the Pennsylvania Railroad, 1,000; iron moulders, 360; laborers dependent on their work for employment, 1,000; glass blowers, 300; laborers dependent on them for work, 700. This makes the total number of men out of employment at that time, 7,000. An average of three dollars per day for these men would be a low estimate at the prices paid at the time of the strike; at this rate from January 15th to March 31st, the wages paid would have been about $1,302,000. At this time some of the mills starting furnished part of the men with work. Allowing 5,000 to have been out of employment since that time and to remain so until the new arrangement goes into effect, and their wages at the same rate would amount to $1,680,000. The total amount of money, had the mills not stood idle, that would have been paid out, therefore, is $2,982,000. This estimate, perhaps, will not cover half the loss which our city has sustained by the lock-out. It is no wonder that all parties are glad to see the matter satisfactorily arranged.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

[Before Mayor Morrison, of Allegheny.]

DISCHARGED.

The three brothers Martin, charged with committing an aggravated assault and battery upon a colored man named J. E. Lucas, had a hearing yesterday before Mayor Morrison, which resulted in the case being dismissed, and the defendants required to pay the costs.

[Before Alderman Mullin, of Allegheny.]

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Wm. Shorts was arrested yesterday on the charge of malicious mischief, preferred by Mary Rickenbaugh, and after a hearing was held to bail in the sum of three hundred dollars for his appearance at court for trial. He failed to obtain the required security and was committed to prison.

[Before Alderman McMasters.]

PERJURY AND SURETY.

Eliza Bradley appeared yesterday and made two informations against Wm. Flinn, a resident of Hatfield, charging him with perjury and surety of the peace. In her information the prosecutrix alleges that on the 22d of July Flinn made an information before Alderman McMasters, charging her with surety of the peace, alleging that she threatened to poison him. She can now prove by witnesses that the allegations made by Flinn were entirely false and that she never made such threats. She also alleges that he threatened to strike her with a stone. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused.

SURETY CASES.

Julia Gahey was arrested on a charge of surety of the peace, Mrs. Ann Driscoll being the prosecutrix. The prosecutrix lives at the corner of Logan and Webster streets, in the Sixth ward, and alleges that yesterday morning Julia challenged her out to fight, and threatened that she could whip deponent. Defendant gave bail for a hearing.

Thomas Jackson charged Geo. Housegood with surety of the peace, charging that the latter threatened to "run a knife through him," and also declared he would shoot him with a revolver. A warrant was issued. Both parties live in Allegheny.

[Before Alderman Strain.]

BREACH OF THE PEACE.

Jane Handlin was before this Alderman yesterday, charged with breach of the peace, on oath of Margaret Cunningham. The parties live in the same house at the corner of Walnut and Etna streets, in the Fifth ward, and the defendant is charged with having threatened the life of the prosecutrix, and creating a disturbance in the neighborhood. She was held for a hearing this afternoon.

[Before Alderman Thomas.]

FALSE PRETENSE.

Henry Schwan made information before Alderman Thomas, against one Frederick Soheideline, for false pretenses. Mr. Schwan alleges that defendant came to his store and bought $6 12 worth of hay under the name of Mr. Smith. The bill was presented to Soheideline, when he denied ordering the goods. Defendant was arrested, and paid the bill and costs of suit, and was discharged.

[Before Burgess Barker, of South Pittsburgh.]

HELD FOR A FURTHER HEARING.

Hugh Feely and Wm. Fitzpatrick, charged with robbing Wm. Price, on the Monongahela bridge, on the 28th ult., were brought before Burgess Barker yesterday for a hearing. Owing to the absence of witnesses for the defense, the case was continued until Saturday next, and the defendants were held in fifteen hundred dollars bail for the hearing. Fitzpatrick obtained bail, but Feely failed to do so and was committed to jail.

[Before Justice Heisel, of East Birmingham.]

SURETY OF THE PEACE CASES.

This magistrate had five cases of surety of the peace before him yesterday. Joseph Gestner charged David Davis with turning him out of his own house and threatening to whip him. He was held to bail for trial in the sum of $500. S. Sprout, for threatening to whip a man named Casper and also Casper's mother, was arrested but the matter was settled by defendant paying the costs. Two sons of Nicholas Stein, who reside in Baldwin township, were charged with the same offense, on oath of Frederick Drew. They were held for a hearing. Agnes Kerr, charged her husband with treating her unkindly. The case was held over for one week. Madison Jones, Michael Wilson, Levi Johnson, John Freeman and Sylvester Lee were arrested for threatening to knock Timothy Britt's head off. They were held for a hearing.

Pennsylvania Military Academy.

Col. Theodore Hyatt, President of the Pennsylvania Military Academy, at Chester, is at present in the city, stopping at the Monongahela House, where he would be pleased to see the patrons of the Academy, between the hours of 10 and 12 o'clock, during to-day, Friday and Saturday. The fifth annual session of the Academy, recently closed, has been the most prosperous in its history, the average attendance for the year being greater than during the preceding session. The design of the institution, we may state for the benefit of those not informed, is to unite with moral and mental education, a thorough course of military instruction, both theoretical and practical; in other words to combine with a first-class college education a practical knowledge of the science of arms, as exemplified in the drill, construction of fortifications and other works of practical engineering. As an evidence of the moral tone of the Academy it may be stated that one-half of the cadets are professing Christians, about twenty having joined the various churches of their parents during the past session. There were fifteen cadets from Pittsburgh in attendance last session. The Academy is an institution of which every Pennsylvanian should feel proud, as it already takes rank with the most eminent colleges in the country.

A PAINFUL OCCURRENCE.—On Saturday morning last, while the morning passenger train East on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad, was stopping at Beaver Station, a lady who was traveling with her husband from Bridgeport to this city, became suddenly ill. She was carried into the station, medical assistance procured and in a short time afterwards gave premature birth to a child, which only lived a few minutes. She was afterwards removed to the National Hotel, in Beaver, where she will remain until able to resume her journey.

A MARKED CASE.—A gentleman of this city sadly afflicted with granulated eyelids—so much so that he could not read and could scarcely see at all—called on Dr. Aborn last Friday, and placed himself under his charge. Yesterday the afflicted gentleman's eyes were so much improved that he could read any kind of print with ease.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—The public will please take notice that at the Great World's Fair held at Paris, 1867, the Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Company did not exhibit a Button Hole Machine, as stated by the Howe Agent, but they did exhibit their unrivalled Sewing Machine with its crystal foot and Button Hole attachments, and received at the hands of the eminent jurors composing the Committee, the only Gold Medal for "perfection in Sewing Machines."

LARGE AUCTION SALE OF BOOTS AND SHOES.—A. Leggate, Auctioneer, will sell at his store, 159 Federal street, Allegheny, on Friday morning at 10, and afternoon at 2 o'clock, several large consignments of Boots, Shoes and Gaiters, of city and eastern manufacture. Buyers will find this an excedingly attractive and advantageous sale, the goods being of a superior quality, and forced to sale. Good bargains may be expected.

HORSE, CART AND HARNESS AT AUCTION.—A. Leggate, Auctioneer, will sell at his store, 159 Federal street, Allegheny, on Friday morning at 10 o'clock, a good nine year old Horse, Cart and Harness. Owner quitting business.

A BIG THING ON GRANT.—While walking down Grant street yesterday afternoon, we dropped into O'Neil's Exchange, opposite Sixth street, to drink a glass of ale. Upon calling for the beverage, we were served about a quart, and were astonished to find that five cents footed the bill. On enquiry we learned that this establishment draws Pier, Dannals & Co.'s ale, and, that in the course of a week, John disposes of about a cord of it. How are you big glasses?

THE GREAT TRADE SALE of Cloths, Cassimeres, Velvets, Ready Made Clothing, Tailors' Trimmings, &c., commences at Masonic Hall Auction Rooms, 55 and 57 Fifth street, this morning, at ten o'clock, and continuing at 2 and 7½ P. M. The assortment of goods is the largest and best ever offered in this market. Merchant tailors, clothiers, jobbers and dealers generally are invited to attend, being assured the goods are free—no limit as to what prices they must bring having been placed on them, and every article offered will be disposed of to the highest bidder. Smithson, Palmer & Co., Auctioneers.

DISSOLUTION OF PARTNERSHIP.—By referring to our advertising columns it will be seen that Messrs. J. F. Neely & Co., druggists have dissolved partnership, Mr. J. F. Neely having purchased the entire interests of his late partners, the Messrs. Sherriffs. Mr. Neely will continue the business at the old stand, No. 371 Rebecca street, Allegheny city. He is an experienced druggist, and always keeps a fresh stock.

CONSULTATION FEE BY LETTER $2.—Persons at a distance from the city wishing to consult the undersigned relative to their cases by letter, should remit a fee of two dollars. E. S. Aborn, M. D., No. 134 Smithfield street. A medical book by mail on receipt of fifty cents.

LARGE SALE OF LOTS.—Seventy-four lots will be sold at auction on next Saturday, August 3d, at 2 P. M., in Birmingham, on the premises immediately adjoining the improved property on the south side of Manor street, only two minutes' walk from the Carson street cars, and six minutes' walk of either bridge. A rare opportunity is here offered to secure cheap homes near the center of business on easy terms.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—The public will please take notice, that notwithstanding the advertisements and show cards put forth by other sewing machine companies, we have the highest premium—the only Gold medal—given to American Sewing Machines at the Paris Exposition of 1867. THE HOWE MACHINE CO., 699 Broadway, New York.

Official—Paris Exposition, 1867.

OFFICE OF THE HOWE MACHINE CO., 699 BROADWAY, N. Y., July 17, 1867.

Advices just received by mail enable us to announce positively that the only gold medal for American sewing machines was awarded to Elias Howe, Jr., as the manufacturer of the best sewing machine that was exhibited. There were eighty-two different machines in competition for the prize, and Mr. Howe received the additional award of the Cross of the Legion of Honor, as manufacturer and inventor. The exact wording of the award is as follows:

HOWE MACHINE. WHEELER & WILSON.
"Co-operateur Elias Howe, Jr., promoteur pour la machine a coudre. Medaille d'or. "Wheeler & Wilson de la machine a coudre. toniere. Medaille d'or.

The official list of those who were made Knights of the Legion of Honor, as published in the Paris papers, reads thus: "Mons. Elias Howe, Jr., fabricant de machines a coudre, exposant;" which, translated into English, reads: "Mr. Elias Howe, Jr., maker of sewing machines, exhibiting."

From this it will be seen that the medal awarded to Wheeler & Wilson was for a "Buttonhole Machine," and not for the Sewing Machine.

A Country Home Now Ready.

A fine and cheap property is advertised for sale in our columns. It is situated near Sewickley, very convenient to depots, schools and churches, is in a choice neighborhood, and has very desirable surroundings. The lot is a very desirable one, of one and a half acres, but more can be had if required. The house is just receiving its finishing touches, and will be ready for occupancy next week. It has been planned and built with great care; has eight rooms and finished and cemented cellar; has marble mantles and hearths; numerous roomy closets, bay-window, bath room, &c. Inside shutters throughout the whole house. This house could not be built now at the price asked. If not sold shortly, will be rented to the highest and most unexceptional bidder. Those desiring a real comfortable and tasteful country home are urged to visit the property and see for themselves. For terms, &c., apply to George H. Holtzman, Real Estate Agent, 76 Fifth street.

An American Knight of the Legion of Honor.

Among the many who have been the recipients of medals and honors at the Exhibition at Paris, none stand so high on the list as the celebrated inventor and manufacturer of Sewing Machines, Elias Howe, Jr. The Emperor, who shows great tact and discrimination in these matters, has made Mr. Howe a Knight of the Legion of Honor, and the jury on Sewing Machines, who had the task of testing and awarding prizes for excellence, unanimously decided that Mr. Howe was not only entitled to great honors as the inventor of the sewing machine, but that he carried off the palm as a manufacturer as well, and to him was awarded accordingly the first of the only two* gold medals assigned to this class. The numbers who have called on Mr. Howe at his office, No. 64 Regent street, to offer their congratulations, prove that many besides the Emperor and the jury acknowledge the justice of the claim.—The Courier, London, England.

*The other was given to a French machine.

DOG DAYS.—The miasma which generates epidemic fevers is now rising in clouds under the blazing beams of the dog-day sun. Every living body, as well as refuse animal and vegetable matter, emits unwholesome vapors, and in crowded cities and the dense assemblages which business and pleasure call together, the elements of disease are evolved. The pressure upon every vital organ is never so great as in the second and third months of summer, and common sense teaches us that these organs require to be reinforced to meet it.

We hold our lives, so to speak, on a repairing lease, and this is the season when the process of dilapidation is most rapid and repairs are most required. Therefore, build up, prop up and sustain the powers of nature with that mighty vegetable recuperant, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. He who takes it may be said to clothe himself in sanitary mail, against which epidemic diseases will hurl its poisonous shafts in vain. This is no gratuitous assertion, but a great medical fact, attested by twelve years' experience in every climate of the habitable globe. Extremes of temperature always disturb the functions of the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the skin. It is through these that the most dangerous maladies assail us. Tone them in advance with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, and defy heat and malaria.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, July 31, 1867.

—The local money market appeared quiet to-day, and there was no special feature of importance to denote any change from its late condition. Banks and bankers are pretty well supplied with money, and for first class borrowers the market rules easy. The speculative demand for loans is light and is not expected to set in before the beginning of the Fall trade.

—The week commenced with rather an adverse influence against government bonds. The New York Bulletin of yesterday says: "Under the reduced London figures, the local market became quite depressed and weak about noon. Sellers were more numerous than buyers. A few speculative holders of the Five-twenties of 1862 were eager to realize. As the reduced figures were made known out on the street, a fair, local investment demand set in, partly from banking sources; and as the available supply of bonds and notes was comparatively moderate, prices rallied a little on the increased dealings, leaving off rather buoyantly at the latest call of the Stock Board. A less extensive conversion business was reported in the line of the 7-30's to-day. All three series of the 7-30 notes have been taken to-day by the brokers in exchange for new Five-twenties of 1867 on the following conditions: For August notes they give the new five-twenty bonds, and pay $27 20 difference. For June notes the same, and pay $1 30 cents difference; and for the July notes the same, and charge $4 70 difference on each thousand dollar conversion. Compound interest notes have been in less request to-day on the basis of 119 for those of August 1864, and 116¾ for those of May, 1865.

—The report to Messrs. McVay & Co. to-day shows a slight recovery, and prices rallied a fraction:

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY EVENING, July 31, 1867.

There was but little trade done to-day, in any branch of business. Flour was in good demand, and prices a trifle lower.

The receipts of some of the leading articles of produce, per river and rail, since our last, were as follows: Flour, 502 bbls; apples, 93 bbls; cheese, 111 boxes; corn, 872 sacks; wheat, 1,166 sacks; rye 24 sacks, and oats 634 sacks.

We quote as follows, which are the wholesale store prices, unless otherwise noted:

APPLES—We quote new eastern apples at $5@6 ℔ bbl.

BUTTER—There is a supply on the market adequate to meet the demand at 16@18c ℔ lb for choice roll.

BEESWAX—Dull at 30c ℔ lb.

BACON, LARD, ETC.—There is a fair trade doing at the following prices: Sugar cured hams 21@22c; dried beef 21@25c; clear sides 16c; rib sides 15c; shoulders 13@13½c. Lard in tierces 13c, and in bbls 13½c ℔ lb.

LARD OIL—We note sales of No. 1 lard oil at $1 05@1 08, and No. 2 at 85c ℔ gal.

MESS PORK—We quote at $25 00@25 25 ℔ bbl.

EGGS—Prices have declined, and we quote at 20@21c ℔ doz.

CHEESE—A moderate trade doing at 13c for Western Reserve; 14c for Hamburg, and 15c for factory ℔ lb.

HAY—Receipts of new are good and dull of sale at $15 00@18 00 ℔ ton at the city scales ℔ country wagon.

ONIONS—New onions are arriving freely and offered at $4 00@4 75 ℔ bbl.

POTATOES—Receipts of new potatoes are large and dull of sale at $1 10 ℔ bush or $2 50@2 80 ℔ bbl.

CORN MEAL, FEED, ETC.—The following are the Washington street mill prices for choice fresh ground articles: Corn meal, $1 10 ℔ bushel; chop corn, $2 20 per hundred; chop corn and oats, (mixed) $2 30 ℔ hundred, and currants bran, $1 50 ℔ hundred.

FLOUR—There was a good demand for flour to supply local dealers. There is a very light stock on the market. The new flour sold in this market has given satisfaction to the purchasers. We quote old spring at $11 75; new winter at $11 75, and fancy St. Louis at $15 00@16 00 ℔ bbl.

RYE FLOUR—We quote at $8 50 ℔ bbl.

WHEAT—The receipts of new wheat are on the increase. We quote new Mediterranean at $2 15 ℔ bushel.

CORN—Stock on hand light, and holders are firm in asking $1 00 per bushel for prime yellow shelled.

OATS—No change in prices since our last. We quote at 85c ℔ bushel.

RYE—Nothing doing. We quote at $1 30@1 40 ℔ bushel.

Family Retail Market.

Our markets are well supplied with the various articles entering into daily consumption, and gardeners complain of dull sales of nearly all kinds of vegetables. New Potatoes are dull of sale at $1 25 ℔ bushel, and 20c ℔ half peck. Onions are in large receipt and selling at 20c ℔ quarter peck, or 3 bunches for 10c. Radishes are scarce at 3@5c ℔ bunch. Cucumbers are a drug at 5c each. Beets are quoted at 5c ℔ bunch; Carrots at 5c ℔ bunch; Snap Beans at 10c ℔ half peck. Tomatoes are not doing well, and will in a few days be as abundant as need be looked for during any time the remainder of the season; to-day they were selling at 20c ℔ quarter peck. New Eastern green Corn is coming in slowly and selling at 40@50c ℔ dozen. Egg plants are scarce and sell at 30@50c each. Squashes sold at 5@10c each. Eastern water melons are in limited receipt and run from 20c@$1 50 each. The market is not well supplied with new Green Apples, and high figures and realized by dealers—we quote at 25@40c ℔ half peck. Pears are scarce and held as high as 75c to $1 00 ℔ half peck. Gooseberries are quoted at 15@20c ℔ quart. Cherries have been scarce all season, and are still selling at 20c ℔ quart for a good article. Blackberries are arriving slowly and selling at 20c ℔ quart. Peaches are so scarce that they are only sold by the single one. Huckleberries sell at 20@25c ℔ quart and currants at 10@15c ℔ quart.

There is a good supply of fresh meats in the market, but some of the butchers still persist in selling the meat of old sickly cows, old bulls and scallawags. Sheep whose whole carcass weighs not more than 50 lbs—and some of it badly diseased—picked up in the stock yards at a mere trifle in price and retailed out on the market house stalls, and throughout the city in shops, at a figure below the price of good articles, and hence inducements to poor and indifferent people to buy that which is entirely unfit for food. Butchers can sell anything in the Diamond market house, and in the various shops throughout the city—rotten and diseased throughout—and there is no inspector of meats to confiscate it—and if there is a law prohibiting its sale it is but a dead letter. We quote the prices of good meats as follows:—Rib roast and sirloin stake, 25c; mutton chops, 20c; leg mutton, 15c; fore quarter mution, 12½c; hind quarter lamb, 20c to 25c; fore quarter lamb, 15c to 20c, and veal cutlets 25c ℔ lb.

There are but few qualities of fresh fish in market. We quote lake salmon at 10c; white fish at 12c, and trout at 12c ℔ lb. Turtles are selling at 10c ℔ lb.

There are more liberal receipts of butter, and we quote choice print selling at 25@30c, and roll at 20@25c ℔ lb. There is also a more liberal receipt of chickens, and we quote at 75c@$1 ℔ pair. Ducks are selling at 75c@$1 ℔ pair. Eggs sold at 25c ℔ doz.

Flour is irregular in price. A fair quality of flour can be purchased at $12@13 ℔ bbl, and at $3 25@3 75 ℔ sack of 49 lb. Corn meal is worth, for a fresh ground article, $1 15 ℔ bush.

We have no change to note in groceries, and quote choice Rio at 30c; roast at 35c; Java at 40c, and Mocha at 60c ℔ lb. Imperial tea is sold at $1 40@2 00, and Young Hyson at $1@2 00. Brown sugar is selling at 14@15c; light sugar at 16c; crushed sugar and powdered at 19c; P. R. molasses at 90c ℔ gallon; New Orleans molasses at $1 10 ℔ gallon; Stewart's syrup at $1 75 ℔ gallon; Lovering's syrup at $1 35 ℔ gallon, and common syrup at $1 ℔ gallon.

PITTSBURGH OIL TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, THURSDAY, August 1, 1867.

Business yesterday was not very active. The sales made were the smallest reported for some days. The meeting on 'Change was well represented by refiners and crude operators. There was, however, a difference of opinion existing among dealers that prevented operations to any extent. Crude was in fair demand; buyers offered 12c freely for first rise, holders refusing to accept less than 12½c, whilst some dealers wanted 13c. The receipts were 492 barrels. Noon dispatches from Oil City reported oil firm up the Creek, at $3 50 ℔ barrel—at the mouth $1 80. Dispatches received at 4 P. M. reported the market excited on the creek, with large sales to Cleveland dealers at $3 75 ℔ barrel, being equal to $4 00@4 05 at the mouth. This produced firmness among holders. The only operation reported in crude was 1,000 bbls on 'Change as follows: 500 barrels bulk, deliverable from August 15th to 31st, at 12c, and 500 barrels bulk, deliverable from September 1st to 15th, at 12c. Buyers were plenty at these figures. There was, however, no sellers below 12½@13c. The only sales made were reported above. The market at the close was firm with the advantage on the side of holders.

REFINED OIL—Attracted but little attention. Operators were busily engaged in closing up transactions that terminated in July. The result was present operations were a secondary matter. Oil for August delivery was firm at 33c for Philadelphia delivery, buyer's option, and 32c for the same delivery, seller's option. The sales as reported were 1,500 barrels, as follows: 500 barrels standard white, Philadelphia, August, buyer's option, 33c; 500 barrels do August, seller's option, 32c; 500 barrels do, buyer's option, Philadelphia, 33c. At 4 P. M. dispatches were received from New York of reported sales of standard white, September delivery at 35½c, and for October at 35c, being a material advance over the figures of the previous day.

Oil City Oil Report.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.
OIL CITY, July 31, 1867.

The market opened firm at $3 80, with an active demand, and closed quiet but firm. On the Creek $3 50 and firm.

WOOL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL, WEDNESDAY EVENING, July 31, 1867.

The wool market, since our last weekly report, has been extremely dull and prices declining. Dealers have no hope of any advance in prices until there is a revival in the woolen goods trade, as manufacturers are not disposed to purchase at any margin in favor of our dealers at the prices they are now paying for wools—and since our last there has been a considerable decline in the Eastern markets. The receipts in this market are very small—and small as they are, dealers are indifferent about purchasing at the following quotations:

Common fleece	35 to 37c
Quarter blood fleece	38 to 40c
Half blood fleece	40 to 43c
Three-quarter blood fleece	45 to 47c
Extra full blood fleece	50c

OHIO.

The Steubenville Herald says: A very large amount of wool has been purchased in this market during the two weeks last past. The average clips of Jefferson county have been purchased at 50c ℔ lb. Fancy clips have been sold at from 55 to 60c ℔ lb. We learn this morning that Mr. Talbot Hammond, of Brooke county, West Va., sold his clip last week to Mr. Wiley, of Washington, Pa., for 75c ℔ lb. Other lots in the same neighborhood have been sold from 65 to 75c ℔ lb—fancy clips, of course. The wool market is improving—and prices upon the whole, so far as we have been able to learn, are stiffening up.

The Kenton Republican says: The wool market in this section still continues dull, owing to inactivity of the trade in the East. Prices rule about the same as our last quotation—from 35 to 43c.

Iron Matters at Portsmouth

The Republican of Saturday says:

The river being very low shipments cannot be made up river, and only in small lots down the river. By railroad the receipts are about the same as last week. Prices are unchanged, the demand being moderate. The new rolling mill is turning out a very satisfactory quality of Russian sheet, and improving each day.

The cotton tie factory of Gould, McIntyre & Co., are working some twenty hands in their works, turning out cotton ties for the southern market.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Oil City.

Special Dispatch to Pittsburgh Commercial.
[By Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Company.]
OIL CITY, July 31, 1867.

River twelve inches and falling slowly. Weather warm and cloudy, with occasional showers.

Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, July 31.—The river is falling with three feet two inches in the canal.

Memphis.

MEMPHIS, July 31.—The river is falling.

RIVER NEWS.

THE RIVER AND MATTERS ALONG THE WHARF.—The weather yesterday was pleasant. Trade in all its various departments being dull, the landing below the bridge was deserted, the only attraction being the fitting up of the new side-wheel steamers of Captains Rodgers and Moore, both of which will be completed in time for the fall trade. Above the bridge the steamers Petrolia and Elizabeth have the trade all to themselves; by the way our esteemed friend Capt. Carlisle has taken charge of the Petrolia. He is a clever and attentive office, and has hosts of friends. The repairs on the various dams are being hurried to completion, and when finished the large side-wheel steamers will resume their trips to Brownsville and Geneva.

THE steamer Ida Rees is announced at Cincinnati for the Arkansas.

A RAILROAD BRIDGE is to be built over the Missouri, at Council Bluffs.

THE high water at St. Paul, still prevents the transaction of business on the levee to a considerable extent.

THE Memphis Post says that city is experiencing a "commercial stagnation, unparalleled in the history of the Bluff City."

CINCINNATI.—The wreck of the Pine Bluff, burned and sunk in the mouth of Licking last winter, is being removed.

THE Belle of St. Louis lies up, and the Jacobs leaves to-day for Memphis. The Stonewall has abandoned the Missouri, and probably loads for New Orleans.

CINCINNATI.—Capt J. B. Conway, of the Silver Cloud No. 2, and Capt. Rees, of the Ida Rees arrived in the city yesterday. Capt. H. Clay Richmond, of the New York, left for Pittsburgh Sunday night.

THE light draught steamer Emma Logan and barges will leave positive at twelve M. to-day for Wheeling, Marietta and Parkersburg, in charge of Capt. Gordon; a sure guarantee that freights shipped will go through without delay.

GOVERNMENT engineers have been for some days past engaged on the river St. Paul, and also on the Minnesota river, in taking soundings, measuring the width, and ascertaining the rapidity of the current, for the purpose of estimating the amount of water passing down.

THE barge system of transportation is attracting a great deal of attention among river men throughout the West, and business is tending in that direction so much as to seriously threaten the interests of our great and magnificent steamers which have been built, and are kept up and run at such an enormous cost.

IMPORTANT.—An advertisement appears in the New Orleans papers, emanating from the Steamboat Captains' Benevolent association, announcing that all the steamboats plying on the Mississippi and its tributaries will charge twenty-five per cent. extra freight on all cotton not iron-tied and fully covered with bagging, leaving no lint exposed.

THE Louisville Journal of yesterday says:

Gen. Weitzel and his corps of engineers have commenced the work of surveying a route on the Indiana side, with a view of making a report to Congress on the feasability of building a canal around the falls of the Ohio. Several routes will be surveyed, and we may expect a more voluminous and detailed report than was ever made before on the same subject.

THE roustabouts of the N. W. U. Packet Company are on a strike for higher wages. They have been receiving $30 and ask $40. The Phil. Sheridan's roustabouts left the boat Thursday at Dubuque, and the Itasca's Friday, the operative force consisting of the deck-hands and mates. This trouble comes in a lucky time for the packet company, as there is not much freight moving. The Itasca left forty barrels of salt at Dunleith, owing to her decreased force.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, dated noon yesterday, says: The river continues falling. There is good water yet to St. Paul; falling from Keokuk down. On Friday the river was stationary at St. Paul, and 19 feet 1 inch above low water mark. On Saturday it was rising slowly at Dubuque. The decline in the Illinois continues steady. The Missouri river is falling, with a fair stage of water. There is no competition to any point, except the Ohio and Upper Mississippi rivers. Rates of freight are extremely low, in consequence of no intimation of compromise to raise rates. Tonnage of all kinds in excess.

THE Dubuque Herald, of Saturday, has the following:—

The employees of the Northwestern Union Packet Company are on a strike for higher wages. The roustabouts of the line are "on it," and want $40 a month. The Phil. Sheridan made a trip without help and could therefore handle no freight. Yesterday the Itasca's "bone and sinew" left which threw the work of loading and unloading on the deck hands and mates, compelling the boat to leave salt and coal behind in the Dunleith depot. The harvest is progressing, and the men think they can do better than work for $30 and board.

OMAHA, July 27.—From private correspondence I have the following items: The steamer Sunset was at St. Charles on the 15th instant. Her progress had been much impeded by sand bars. Thomas Bolt, a deck hand from Zanesville, Ohio, fell overboard and was drowned.

Two colored boys were sleeping in the Trover's hull when the Ida Stockdale departed with the machinery of the Trover. They awoke to find themselves abandoned in the wilderness, without food or any means of defense. Ignorant of the country they started down the river hoping to overtake the boat. In attempting to cross a river supposed to be the Little Muddy, one was drowned, on the 11th inst. The Sunset in moving along up stream had the attention of her people on board attracted by seeing a man's hand waving a white hat above a thicket. The boat approached and found the survivor almost starved to death and nearly naked. He had traveled nine days without anything to eat, no sleep, his face literally raw by mosquito bites. His name is Frederick Good.

A St. Louis correspondent says the pilot of the Sunset is worthless. The boat twisted out of shape, encountering sand bars, but doubtless reached Benton safe. The Nile and Cornelia arrived this morning from St. Louis. The Lady Grace arrived last evening and went down again. The river is still falling. Annie Ward's receipts clear $234.—Missouri Democrat.

THE St. Louis Republican says:

Weather hot and sultry, with indications of rain; business as last reported, and the river falling, sums up in a few words the material points on the levee.

The Kate Kearney, of the old established Keokuk Packet Company, enters the trade between this city and Cincinnati landing as an accommodation packet. Capt. Schofield will command the Kate, with Della Steen in the office.

The Home arrived from Lasalle with a tow of two coal boats.

The R. L. Woodward came from the bank and will take the place of the Schuyler as a Peoria packet.

Goodin, of the Coal Banks, near Lexington, under date of four P. M., yesterday, telegraphs:

The Jacob Sass, from Miami to Leavenworth, passed up at six A. M. to-day. The Kate Kinney and N. B. Allen are expected up to-night. The H. S. Turner passed down at five P. M. yesterday, with one of the largest trips of the season.

The river has fallen here four inches since Thursday.

At Omaha the Big Horn passed down at 2 P. M., and the Lady Grace at 5 P. M., yesterday. The Nile arrived at 8 A. M. to-day, and left for St. Louis at 2 P. M. The Cornelia arrived at 4 A. M. to-day, and left on return at 11. The Glasgow arrived at noon.

The river has risen four inches at Omaha since yesterday, and is still rising.

Arrived—Southwester, Alton; Lucy Bertram, Keokuk; Mollie McPike, Keokuk; Minnesota, St. Paul; Fannie Scott, Chester; Post Boy, Cambridge; Peoria City, Jefferson City; Gem, Illinois river; Beardstown, Peoria; Schuyler, Peoria; Kate Kearney, retirement; R. L. Woodward, retirement; tow boat Home, La Salle.
